Charges G. O. P. Plans 'Spending Spree'

MILLER SAYS LOCKE GUIDED COUNCIL UPSET

Declares Mayor 'Engineered' Committee Revision 'To Pay Off Political Debts.'

MEETS WITH DENIAL

Mayor Admits He Attended Caucus But Says He Made No Suggestions.

Fred Miller, deposed Democratic chairman of city council's finance committee, charged today that Mayor W. J. Locke and the Republican-controlled council had "engineered" the overthrow of Democratic committee appointments to open the way for a "spending spree to pay off political debts."

The Republican 7-2 majority overthrew the standing committee selections of Council President Howard G. Miller Monday night and set up new committees with Republicans in control.

Miller, chairman of the finance committee for five years, was replaced by Republican Russell D. Porch who is starting his fourth term in council. Miller was denied a place on the finance committee, being assigned to service on three minor ones.

Miller and Michael A. Mihalick, a "freshman" Democrat, were stripped of their control of the finance, water and light committees. Mihalick was left on the finance and water committees but is the lone Democratic member on those committees.

Miller said that he "had not the slightest doubt" that the new appointments were made at "the personal direction of Mayor Locke."

"Locke has made several political promises," said Miller, "and with me on the finance committee, he knew that he would have difficulty in paying off."

Mayor Locke, when asked for an interview on the matter refused to grant one saying that he was "in conference." However, he talked by telephone to a News-Journal representative who was

WILL DECIDE

LaGuardia To Make Choice of Mayor, Defense Jobs.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Fiorello H. La Guardia said today he soon would have to decide whether he would continue as mayor of New York and as civilian defense director.

La Guardia told a house committee that he wanted to stay on as a defense chieftian until congress finally passed a bill authorizing appropriations for the work and another, still in the making, to provide for compensation for civilian defense workers injured at their tasks.

"Then," he said, "I will either have to give up the job of mayor of the city of New York and take the civilian defense job, or I can give up the OCD and go back to New York and mind my own business and criticize what is going on in Washington, or I can do what I did in the last war, if I could get by." The mayor was an air corps major in the last war.

Empire Hit By Shortage Of Materials

300 Will Be Furloughed As Restrictions Curb Plants Here Again.

Industrial employment in Mansfield today suffered its second major jolt of recent months when the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company banked three of its six open hearth furnaces and began to lay off employes due to shortage of raw materials.

Westinghouse, with a record employment list of more than 5,000 last August, has furloughed a total of 1,500 workers, starting with 700 on Sept. 8, due to lack of materials and government orders curtailing apliance production.

Approximately 300 at Empire will be furloughed by the end of the month, James M. Hill, president and manager, announced: He indicated that an additional furnace would be closed in January, leaving only two in operation.

Empire had 1,350 persons employed on January 1 and has been at capacity production with six open hearth furnaces operating. The company has a record backlog of orders on its books at the present time, as has the entire steel industry. Other steel plants throughout the country are be-

YOUNG MOTHER KILLS HERSELF

Mansfield Salesman's Wife Takes Own Life at Home Early Today.

Mrs Helen Dale Baker, 33-year-old mother of three children, ended her life with a revolver bullet early this morning in the bathroom of her home at 340 Davis road, police reported.

Coroner L. B. McCullough gave a verdict of "death from a self-inflicted bullet wound in the right temple." He ract was ascribed to the fact, that she had been highly nervous and in poor health, Dr. McCullough said. He reported that she left no notes for her family.

Her husband, Kenneth C. Baker, a salesman for a pahamaceutical company, was in Canton on a business trip, and was notified by telephone.

Two of the three children are too young to be aware of last night's tragedy. They are Bruce, 3, and Elizabeth, 15 months. The third child, nine-year-old Gwendolyn today was bravely concealing her feeling while she helped to keep the younger children entertained.

Time of death, which Dr. McCullough said was instantaneous, was placed at 3:13 a. m. Mrs. Maggie Rogers, an aunt of Mrs. Baker, who had been visiting at the home for several days, heard the shot and awakened the maid, Lavina Fay Rodenberger. When the two found the bathroom door locked, they telephoned Mrs. Baker's mother, Mrs. Fred Kochheiser, and grandfather, Joseph Grogg, who hastened to the home.

Breaking down the door, they found the body and summoned police. Investigation was made by a squad headed by Police Captain Jesse J. Schwab and by Dr. McCullough.

Mrs. Baker, an only child, was born in Morrow county and came to Mansfield to live with her family when she was 18 years old.

The body was taken to the Wappner funeral home. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

HOPE TO END ARGENTINA'S 'HOLDING OUT'

Delegates Raise Hope Nation Will Join Anti-Axis Bloc at Conference.

ENVOY ARRIVES TODAY

Colombia Will Offer Plan For Pan-American Post-War Pacts.

(By Associated Press)

RIO DE JANEIRO—Hopes rose among delegates to the third consecutive conference of American foreign ministers today that Argentina would join the solid anti-Axis bloc of American nations by agreeing to sever diplomatic, economic and financial relations with Germany, Italy and Japan.

Argentina, whose foreign minister, Enrique Ruiz Ginazu, is expected to arrive by plane today, is alone among the 21 nations in opposing a unanimous break with the Axis. Guinazu had insisted that his government would undertake no further "pre-belligerency engagements" and there had been reports that he planned to walk out of the conference if it insisted on a joint rupture.

A high conference official said today, however, that there was a "greater feeling of confidence than there was 24 hours ago and we believe a satisfactory solution will be worked out on all major issues."

The issues facing the conference when it convenes tomorrow, were understood to involve not only the Argentina question, but the efforts of Ecuador to inject its century-old boundary dispute with Peru—which flared into actual hostilities last summer—into the Agenda.

Despite the tightly-organized order of business, which is limited to two divisions on hemispheric defense and five on economics, it appeared that even more than the 60 projects introudced at the Havana conference would be brought forward. Most were scheduled to be held over or disregarded entirely.

High on the Agenda will be a plan offered by Colombia for a series of interlocking pacts

GOAL NEARER

Red Cross, Seeking $40,000, Reports $36,678 Received.

The war emergency fund raised by Richland county chapter of the Red Cross had exceeded its $30,000 by $6,678 today as contributions continued to be received at fund headquarters in the Farmers' bank building.

Working towards an over-subscription of $10,000 in compliance with urgent appeals from national headquarters the fund-raising committee, headed by W. J. Spreng and L. B. Hamilton, expected industrial and other contributions to boost the county war fund to $40,000 before the week is over.

Mansfield Tire and Rubber company employes had contributed $1,379, the committee reported today, exclusive of a $75 check presented yesterday by the United Rubber Workers, making a total of $100 for that particular group.

The fund headquarters will be retained until all collections have been received and an accounting given for every card distributed throughout the county.

Direct U. S. War Production

Donald Marr Nelson, right, former Sears-Roebuck executive, has been given supreme authority by President Roosevelt over American war production. He will head a War Production board on which Vice President Henry A. Wallace, left, now chairman of the Economic Defense board, will serve as a member. Until his appointment, Nelson was executive director of the Supply Priorities and Allocations board. After receiving his appointment Nelson warned that the nation faces its hardest years since Valley Forge.

Nelson Pledges to Sweat U. S. to All-Out Effort

New War Industries Head Asks 'Too Much, Too Soon,' Predicts Hardest Years Since Valley Forge.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—A tireless, tough-hearted driver, Donald M. Nelson, is taking charge of American war industry under a pledge to sweat the country into all-out arms production.

He wants the story henceforth to be "too much, too soon" instead of the requiem—"too little, too late"

"Just ahead of us are the hardest years we have been through since Valley Forge," says the man President Roosevelt has chosen to boss the whole production program.

"This defense program isn't any WPA program—a joyride—for industry. We are not playing for marbles. It's a life and death struggle. We are going to need the labor of every available worker and every machine that can be used in the land.

"We can overtake Hitler. The man who says we can't is either blindly ignorant or believes that democracy and freedom are played out and helpless."

Nelson is a natural advocate of hard work and self-denial as the

FOUR BURNED

Mother, Three Children Perish In Cottage Fire.

DEARBORN, Mich. —(INS)— A young mother and her three small children burned to death today when fire destroyed the small cottage which their husband and father built a year ago.

The victims were Mrs. Mabel Tarduff, 26, and the children, Clara Mae, three; Donna Jean, two, and William, one. The husband and father, Clarence, 27, was at work when the fire broke out. He said his wife and children had been sick in bed when he left for work at midnight.

'SPRING' STAYS

Fair Weather To Remain But Mercury Dips Tonight.

Most of the city's ice and snow covering disappeared today under a bright sun that kept the mercury at spring-time levels.

Mansfielders can expect more fair weather tonight and possibly tomorrow, but the mercury will dip sharply tonight, the weatherman said. There was no cold wave in sight.

Mansfield had a comfortable 38-degree reading at noon today and the low this morning was 26. The readings throughout Ohio generally were only slightly below freezing.

Contrasting with last week's frigid wave, the average reading in Mansfield during the past 24 hours was 32, nearly four degrees above normal. Only sub-zero weather reported in the country today was in northern New York and the New England states.

WOULD SPEED DELIVERY

Beaverbrook, Former Head of SPAB Cited as Top Members of Board.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Secretary of the Navy Knox today said he believed stories of internal unrest in Germany were spurious and deliberately spread to take the edge off America's war effort.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Selection of Donald M. Nelson as generalissimo of the "arsenal of democracy"—answerable only to President Roosevelt for America's war production program—today indicated quick establishment of a supreme Allied supply council to coordinate war deliveries to the armies of the united nations.

Nelson, former Chicago mail order house executive who rose to the top of the war production setup in 18 months, and Lord Beaverbrook, Great Britain's minister of supply, presumably would be the most important members of that council.

President Roosevelt announced last night that Nelson will be named chairman and responsible director—"his decisions . . will be final"—of a new U. S. war production board which will be set up soon to replace the present supply priorities and allocations board which took the top defense production spot from the office of production management last August.

That is the biggest and most spectacular position given a civilian by a war president since Woodrow Wilson made Herbert C. Hoover food administrator during World war I. The war production board parallels creation of the World war industries board which was headed by Bernard M. Baruch.

The choice of Nelson for the production job ends many months of criticism of Mr. Roosevelt's production setup. Demands for a one-man production chief extend-

FDR Veto Threat Hits Farm Foes Of Price Control

WASHINGTON—(UP)—The implied threat of presidential veto of pending price control legislation today weakened the senate farm bloc's attempt to get preferential treatment for agricultural products.

President Roosevelt, continuing his active participation in shaping the legislation that has been before congress since last summer, also reminded two of his top officials who have been arguing about joint authority over farm prices:

"I can fire either one of them."

Mr. Roosevelt allowed direct quotation of his press conference statement involving Price Administrator Leon Henderson and Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard. Wickard, opposing the president's views on pending price control legislation, wants veto power over any ceilings Henderson might set over farm product prices.

Senate-house conferees have scheduled a meeting tomorrow to begin work on a compromise between the differing versions passed by the senate and house.

Mr. Roosevelt left no doubt

Mystic Says Hitler Will Commit Suicide This Year, Or Later.

LOS ANGELES —(INS)— The Rev. Violet Greener, mystic of Agabeg Temple who a year ago predicted the entry of the United States into the World war "after 1941," made a new forecast today.

It was that Hitler will commit suicide this year or later, "leaving his country destroyed." Also, she said, Japan will capture the Philippines, but they will be recaptured by the United States.

Repulse Blows On Luzon, Spur New Offensive

Netherlands Land, Air Forces Raid Borneo, Battle In Sarawak

(By International News Service)

BATAVIA—Carrying their blows as far afield as the southern Philippines, Netherlands air and land forces opened a vigorous new counter-offensive against the Japanese today.

The attack coincided with the arrival in the Dutch East Indies of the United Nations Far Eastern command, headed by General Sir Archibald P. Wavell of the British imperial army and General George H. Brett, U. S. A.

Dutch bombers raided Japanese occupied Tarakan, off the east coast of Borneo, scoring hits on a Japanese ship, while Dutch land forces engaged Jap troops on the border of Sarawak, killing 18 with the loss of only one man.

Meanwhile, a Netherlands flying boat flew northward to the south Philippines and bombed a Japanese air base, scoring three direct hits on a barrack.

Commenting on the loss of Tarakan, the newspaper Batavia Nieuwsblad declared:

"We must face the fall of Tarakan and not allow ourselves to be discouraged. Japan attacked at the right moment, as the unified command had not yet made itself effective, and even if our allies did what they could, large-scale reinforcements have not yet arrived.

"Under the circumstances the principal task of the garrison was to hold off the attackers long enough to carry out plans for destruction."

The ships hit were part of a large fleet, consisting of six cruis-

U. S. Warships Get Two Enemy Ships; Troops Inflict Heavy Losses

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's men have beaten off two more "determined" Japanese attacks in Batan, the war department reported today, and U. S. warplanes have sunk two Japanese lighters in operations for defense of the Dutch East Indies.

It was the first time the war department had officially confirmed that American air power has joined the Dutch in combined efforts to beat off the Japanese offensive against the oil and rubber rich Indies.

The American planes — the communique said three participated in the operation—attacked Japanese landing forces at Tarakan, the rich oil island adjacent to the northeast Borneo coast, and sank two lighters which were engaged in putting Japanese troops ashore on the island.

On Luzon, where MacArthur is fighting to turn his Batan-Corregidor positions into an American "Tobruk," the Japanese launched two more heavy assaults against his Batan lines.

Both these attacks were beaten off. The Americans were said to have inflicted "heavy losses" on the Japanese forces which attempted to assault the U. S. lines despite the failure of their artillery preparations of the day previous.

The war department characterized the Japanese operations in Batan as "reconnaissances in force" indicating that the Japanese pressed forward in an attempt to find weak spots in the

STORM: Deluge Aids Empire Troops Against Foe In Malaya

(By United Press)

SINGAPORE—A torrential tropical storm came to the aid of the imperial army today as a powerful Australian force was reported prepared for big scale action and empire planes were increasingly in evidence against big Japanese plane fleets which rained bombs throughout southern Malaya.

Rain which started at noon yesterday turned into a terrific deluge during the night in which sheet rain was combined with thunder and lightning.

The storm was so heavy it practically immobilized offensive operations to the north, where the imperial forces were withdrawing slowly and stubbornly, destroying everything usable as they retired, before the relentless Japanese attack.

The rain gave the imperial forces, preparing for a finish fight in Johore province immediately north of Singapore island, precious hours in which to prepare their defense, and it gave the men at the front hours in which to complete demolitions and, disengaging themselves from the thrusting Japanese advance forces, to prepare a stiffer delaying line.

Authoritative sources admitted that the retreat would continue for the immedite present but there was a distinct improvement in the general feeling here and it was intimated that as the fighting got nearer the Johore boundary, 90 miles to the north the Japanese would meet opposition likely to turn the trend more toward the defenders' favor.

As their ground forces drove southward, Japanese air forces steadily intensified their attacks on the imperial lines and on Singapore.

GAINS: Soviets Sweep Ahead On Three Main Front Sectors

(By Associated Press)

Sweeping Soviet gains on three sectors of the mainland front and attacks by Red army cavalrymen against German positions in the heart of the Crimea were reported today.

Dispatches from Moscow, Vichy and London pieced out a picture of heavy thrusts against the Germans through which:

Red army men recaptured Kirov, a strategic rail junction 150 miles southwest of Moscow, in fighting which littered the streets with German dead;

Gorokhovo, in the vital Mozhaisk sector 57 miles west of Moscow, was recaptured;

Staraya Russia, near Lake Ilmen 130 miles south of Leningrad, was restored to Russian control through the withdrawal of the German garrison under pincer pressure.

Soviet soldiers pressed within 12 miles of Kharkov, the Donets basin industrial center 400 miles below Moscow.

Russian cavalrymen newly landed in the Crimea were reported to be raiding German positions at Karasubazar, 25 miles northeast of Simferopol, and driving northeastward toward the Perekop isthmus from the Fedosiya area while parachute troops struck at behind-the-lines objectives.

On the North African front, British headquarters noted increasing Axis aerial activity but reported that advance imperial troops were driving forward in pursuit of Gen. Erwin Rommel's retreating army south of El Agheila, 90 miles southwest of the old battle sector of Agedabia.

"Further satisfactory progress was made and increasing pressure was brought to bear upon the enemy rearguards," a Cairo bulletin said.

Far to the east, on the Egyptian-Libyan frontier, British naval, land and air forces were reported intensively bombarding the

Remy Named Again by C. of C.; Birch Elected by Red Cross

Two major civic organizations—the Mansfield chamber of commerce and the Red Cross, today had completed their organizational plans for the year with the election of 1942 slates of officers.

Robert C. Remy, present president of the chamber of commerce, was re-elected at a meeting of the organization's directors last night. L. W. Birch, chairman of the Richland county Red Cross roll call for the last three years, was named president of the county chapter, to succeed Milo W. Hieber, at the annual Red Cross membership meeting yesterday afternoon.

The entire present slate of chamber of commerce officers was re-elected. They are: Joy A. Herbert, first vice president; Merle Pecht, second vice president; P. M. Eliot, treasurer; C. H. Keating, national councillor.

The directors voted to follow the usual practice of electing the president of the Manufacturers' club to the post of third vice president. Present holder of the two offices is P. R. Tappan, but the Manufacturers' club is slated to elect a new president in several weeks.

Under Birch's leadership last November the annual Roll Call gained a membership of 15,929,

Expect Chief Bates to Leave Sunday for Service With FBI

Mansfield's police chief, Meade K. Bates, is expected to leave Sunday for Washington, D. C., to enter a "refresher" training course with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, preparatory to being designated for service as a member of the FBI for the duration of the war.

Bates told city officials that he was subject to call last month and asked for a leave of absence. City council granted his request.

The police chief said today that he expected no definite information on his entrance into the FBI until tomorrow or Friday.

Service-Safety C. M. Crafton said that when Bates is called for national police service, it would be necessary to place one of the police department's three police captains in charge until Bates' return. Other men in the organization would be moved up a notch to fill resulting vacancies. Captains eligible for Bates' post include Thomas M. Bell, Jesse J. Schwab and John Miller.

Bates has been trained at the FBI's National Police Academy at Washington during the summer months for the past four years. He is a graduate of the police academy and has returned each year for further instruction.

The police chief will not benefit financially by the change. The salary offered FBI agents is about the same as that paid him as police chief. Bates' salary at present is $210 monthly or $2,520 annually.

GEN. JOHNSON:

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON — My mail is filled with a type of letter that, to me, is pathetic.

These letters are from officers and enlisted men who have been separated from the service for one honorable reason or another and whose records, they say, are excellent. That, I take as true. These records are too easily checked to falsify.

Gen. Johnson.

With hardly an exception the substance, though not the words, of the query in such letters is to the same effect:

"How can I serve in this emergency? I am an able-bodied professional soldier with years of training. I am not seeking a job for pay or asking for any particular rank or place or king of service. It is simply unbearable to sit here twiddling my thumbs and talking to myself with my country at such a crisis?"

There is an easy way to give these earnest inquiries the old army run-around. Refer them to the adjutant general. He will send the writer a nice mimeographed or form letter congratulating him on his patriotic impulse, but informing him that it is not war department policy to accept for service men in his class.

Everybody knows the reasons for this policy. This is a young man's war. These veterans can't stand field service and command under modern conditions. When you accept one, you simply acquire a new candidate for future pension rolls.

All this is true as far as it goes—which isn't very far. The government has millions of dollars invested in the professional training of such men. Its supply and reserves of trained officers and non-coms is pitifully scanty. Many of the new formations do not have 10 per cent of trained professional soldiers.

Nobody knows yet what will result from a vast raw recruit army, led by officers who are almost as raw themselves, except for some fragmentary training course. They are as fine-looking and alert young men as you could find in a trip around the world, but, after all, soldiering is a profession, like medicine or the law, and they have had no opportunity to qualify.

It is agreed that these older men are not up to taking all the hard knocks of field service, but isn't there a place to use many of them in helping with the training program? Aren't's there thousands of office and other auxiliary army jobs now being done by young regular officers which could as well be taken care of by one of these veterans?

Consider the matter of civilian defense. Considerable effort has been made to awaken enthusiasm by appointing committees in several walks of life to undertake this or that phase of home defense.

Yet there stand the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and various other nation-wide organizations composed of men, some of whom are accomplished soldiers, and nearly all of whom at least have a great sense of responsibility, obedience and patriotism.

I am not suggesting that the army "take over" civilian defense but the conclusion is hard to escape that it is a mistake not to stiffen our emergency helter-skelter organization of it by using, as a skeleton on which to frame it, these peculiarly qualified civilian organizations of ex-soldiers.

For some parts of the actual working plan for the job they are peculiarly well-fitted. They could act as reserve force for the police. They could quickly mobilize working gangs to clean up in case of a bombing raid and be in readiness for almost any emergency that might come.

ACCUSE PAIR IN TORTURE DEATHS OF TWO WOMEN

Texas Authorities Link Dope Ring To Slayings After Four-Year Search.

(By United Press)

VAN HORN, Tex. — Texas authorities accused a truck driver and his wife of murder today, climaxing a four-year search for the torture slaying of two California women found dead April 3, 1938, in the desolate plateau country near this village.

Murder charges were filed against Charles W. Hatfield, 38, and his wife, Bonnie, 31, who were arrested Jan. 6 at Bakersville, Cal. They were accused of killing Mrs. Weston G. Frome, 43, and her daughter, Nancy, 22, socially prominent Berkeley, Cal., women.

Police refused to reveal the basis of charges against them or to explain how the trail had taken them to Bakersfield after the investigation had reached into every state and two foreign countries.

The Fromes were enroute to Parris, S. C., to visit a relative when they were slain. Authorities believed they had been overtaken in an automibile race on a lonely highway. One of the assailants had stomped on Nancy. The hands of both women were burned and both had been shot in the head.

Police said more than two persons may have participated in the attack and reported that a search for other suspects was continuing. They disclosed that a farm wife was taken into custody near Mexia, Tex., 600 miles east of Van Horn, and brought here for questioning.

One officer said participation "of a narcotics ring is part of the picture," giving credence to previously expressed theory that the women had been mistaken for dope-smugglers.

Hatfield was one of the first of 1,500 suspects who have been questioned in connection with the case. He was brought from California to El Paso, Tex., on a bad check charge and later released after Texas Rangers questioned him about the Frome slayings.

Burglars are finding the "pickings" very slim these days in Mansfield. Although they have broken into 12 different Mansfield places of business and homes since the beginning of the year, their total "earnings" have been less than $35. Police records show that the largest amount the thieves got was $15 while the smallest was 20 cents from a shop and 34 cents from another. In some of the burglaries, nothing was taken. Police figure the average amount taken in the burglaries so far is less than $3.

30 PER CENT PRODUCTION CUT DUE SOON

Complete Stoppage to Follow; New Controls Scheduled For Home Building.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The office of production management is planning to stop all civilian radio production "in a couple of months" and to place new controls over private home construction, it was learned today.

OPM officials said radio production would be cut approximately 30 per cent soon and that output would cease entirely shortly thereafter. The drastic curtailment order will be issued by OPM's civilan supply division.

Restrictions and ultimate elimination of civilian radio production, officials said, will not result in hardships because an estimated 57,000,000 sets are already in private homes, large stocks are held by dealers, and an adequate supply of repair and maintenance parts will be made available.

An order also is under discussion by the OPM's priorities division, it was disclosed, which will limit the amount of metal available for construction in private homes. Priority assistance now is given to those homes costing less than $6,000 or renting for less than $50 a month, but there were no restrictions on use of metals.

While private home building will not be prohibited under the order, defense officials said it would result in "new restrictions and small homes." All supplies in the hands of contractors also would be regulated by the proposed order. No new restrictions woud be placed on defense housing construction.

The radio that a civilian cannot buy will provide material for another set to be used in an airplane, tank, ship, vehicle by a parachute trooper or the signal corps.

Fables From the Fifties: You've seen Garson Kanin pictures — ("Tom, Dick and Harry" most recently) and you know how the boy in a Garson Kanin picture always meets the girl in a funny way. No regular introduction by a friend, no "Ginger I would like you to meet George my friend in the bank." Nothing like that. It has to be different; it has to have a "twist" or a "Kanin touch."

Well, the Kanin touch operates in real life, too, even far from Hollywood. As witness the fact that Gertrude Niesen received a Christmas card from Garson, whom she had never met, so she sent him one with a message that perhaps his to her and not been intended for her. And he wrote back:

"Dear Miss Niesen, I received your greeting complete with scolding. So you don't know me. So I don't know you. So I think I'll kill myself. I am a fan of yours and whenever it says "Gertrude Niesen on the outside, I always go inside."

He explained that the card had been intended for someone else—a Miss Claire Niesen—but that he would consider the resulting correspondence a proper introduction and certainly felt entitled to send Gertrude greetings of any kind in the future.

So that is how Garson Kanin met Gertrude Niesen, mail order method, and I for one intend to follow the scenario closely from now on.

WOULD BE FREE OF 'PIOUS' MATE

Husband Says He'll Seek To Annul Marriage After Swindle Charge.

(By United Press)

NEWARK, N. J.—J. Clarence Carr, 71, a pillar of the Roseville Methodist church, announced today that he would ask for an annulment of his marraige to Mrs. Amelia M. Carr, 66, exposed just before last Sunday's services as a veteran swindler and ex-convict with a record in six states.

Carr had supposed that his wife, whom he married five years ago, was as pious as himself. She had always seemed so. But she is now in county jail on a charge of bilking one of her church sisters of $4,700, and authorities said she had swindled possibly $1,000,000 in her lifetime.

It was not determined whether she had heard of her husband's intentions to annul their marriage. She spoke of him as "a fine old man" and a "real Christian gentleman."

Her sister, Mrs. George Hayes of Philadelphia, visited her for an hour-and-a-half yesterday. She emerged from the cell weeping, and said:

"My poor sister. As long as I live I will do what I can for her. I am heartbroken. I never knew my sister was in prison. I never saw here in prison or wrote to her in prison."

RITES SET FOR MRS. COUSINO

Funeral for Former Mansfielder To Be Held Thursday.

Funeral services for Mrs. Paul Cousino, 68, former Mansfielder, will be held at 10 a. m., Thursday at St. Peter's Catholic church. Msgr. R. C. Goebel will officiate and burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery at Toledo.

Mrs. Cousino, the former Anna O'Brien, was a resident of Mansfield until about four years ago when she moved to Toledo. It was there she was married. She died at her home there yesterday morning.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Cousino is survived by one sister, Mrs. Blanche Chambers of Cleveland. The body is at the Geiger funeral home.

MAYOR MAKES APPOINTMENTS

SHELBY—Mayor W. R. Morris today announced two appointments which he had made to city boards here for the new year.

ASK EXPLANATION OF BAN ON AUTOMOBILE AND TIRE SALES

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The house small business committee called on the top-ranking price and production officials in the defense set-up today for an explanation of recent federal orders affecting the sale of automobiles and tires.

Leon Henderson, price control administrator, and Floyd V. Odlum, head of the OPM priorities and contract distribution system, were called to testify as the committee entered the second day of the investigation of the effect of the defense program on small business.

Committee members indicated that Henderson and Odlum would be subjected to rigorous questioning, after representatives of the nation's 44,000 automobile dealers yesterday had described the new regulations as a "death sentence" against their business and submitted a program for relief.

Specifically, Henderson was expected to be asked about a prospective new order which L. Clare Cargile of Texarkana, Tex., told the committee might enable the dealers to operate on a "pure subsistence" basis. Cargile, president of the National Automobile Dealers association, did not divulge details of the plan.

The new regulation, he indicated, would apply only to new cars in dealers' hands on January 1 or manufactured this month. Sales of such cars have been forbidden, regardless of whether they were ordered prior to January 1. The ban on civilian sales originally was effective only through Jan. 15, but yesterday OPM extended it until Feb. 2.

NEW OFFICERS

Mansfield Elected Chairman of 'Old Richland.'

Judge Edwin Mansfield today had been elected chairman of the board of directors of the Richland County Mutual Insurance company, the oldest corporation in Mansfield and one of the first 100 companies incorporated in the United States.

He has been a director of the company for the past 30 years.

Elected president, succeeding the late J. A. Rigby, who served for 23 years, was E. W. Dann. Other officers elected was J. G. Wallace, new secretary-treasurer who has been connected with the company for 18 years.

Directors of the company in addition to the officers are: H. S. Caldwell, C. W. Fuchs, J. W. Cook, A. M. Metheany, J. L. Eberly and R. A. Kern.

The company, termed the "Old Richland" by its officers, has been in continuous operation in Mansfield for the past 92 years.

MADISON BOARD ELECTS HIPP

Meeting last night to organize for the next bi-ennium, the Madison township board of education elected Phillip Kipp president and swore in two new members.

Other officers elected were Lawrence Hughes, vice president, and William Reinoehl, clerk. All terms were for two years.

New members of the board who took office last night were Herschel F. Roberts and Harold F. Tingley.

The board decided to meet the second Wednesday of each month.

DEATH CLAIMS MARY STECHER

Long Illness Ends In Death; Rites Set For Friday.

Mrs. Mary K. Stecher, 21, died last evening at her home on Ashland road following a lingering illness.

Surviving are her husband, Joseph, her father, Lester McCullough, her mother, Mrs. Earl Smith, a brother, Lester McCullough, jr., a sister, Mrs. Grace Schafer, two half-sisters, Catherine and Patricia Smith, and a half-brother, Thomas Smith, all of Mansfield.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3:30 p. m. Friday from the Wappner funeral home with Rev. G. E. Swoyer officiating. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

PLAYS TONIGHT

'Jeeter' and 'Tobacco Road' on Madison Stage.

"Tobacco Road" takes over the Madison stage tonight to give Mansfield its third glimpse of the Jack Kirkland drama about the sharecroppers of Georgia which made theatrical history by running eight years on Broadway.

The company was scheduled to reach here from Lima early this afternoon and no screen bill was slated for a matinee showing in order to afford the stage crew the five hours required to set the stage.

John Barton will be seen here for the third time as "Jeeter Lester," the shiftless sharecropper whose unlovely tribe people the play.

Merryl Boyden appears as the bedraggled "Ellie May," while Vinnie Phillips plays "Sister Bessie." Others in the cast include Sondra Johnson, Lillian Ardell and William Robertson.

The performance begins at 8:30 p. m. and seats are still available.

Proposes Schools Aid War Effort In Classrooms

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Ohio's public schools were called on today to "enrich, not curtail, present studies by relating each class to the war emergency."

Kenneth C. Ray, state education director, in a letter to Ohio's 2,200 school superintendents and principals, offered suggestions for making schools "headquarters in the battle against a common enemy."

He proposed expansion of units on Asia and the Pacific in the study of geography, home economics courses on diets for workmen on overtime defense production, and for social studies, assemblies and forums on civilian defense and conservation of important materials.

"The typing department should type material for the local civilian defense council and the library could develop an information center containing bulletins on air raids, first aid and so on," Ray said.

NAME CHAIRMAN OF ASSISTANTS

The Red Cross staff assistants' class elected Mrs. William Layton, 38 Wellington avenue, chairman, upon completion of its training period yesterday at Red Cross executive headquarters.

Mrs. Layton will be in charge of furnishing assistance to the executive office and will retain a file of the 23 members and the service for which they are enrolled including first aid, production, special roll call work, and civilian defense.

Certificates will be presented to the class at a later date according to Miss Lenore Van Gundia, executive secretary of the Red Cross.

LUZON TROOPS BEAT OFF TWO JAP ASSAULTS

Enemy Losses Heavy, Planes Sink Two Jap Ships In Indies Defense.

U. S. lines against which the main assault could be delivered.

"These attacks were well supported by artillery and aircraft," the communique said. "Both were repulsed by our troops, with the Japanese suffering heavy losses. American and Philippine casualties were comparatively small."

Again, the Japanese air force was employed entirely in support of ground operations and new attacks were made on American fortifications, including the rugged rock island of Corregidor.

The war department reported that information from Mindano and Jolo islands in the Philippines indicated the Japanese are rapidly establishing advance bases there for the support of their operations against the Dutch Indies and Malaya.

Mindanao is the southernmost large Philippines island where the Japanese have set up an important base at Davao. Jolo is a small island southwest of Mindanao in the Sulu archipelago close to the northeast Borneo coast. It is about 100 miles southwest of Zamboanga.

The U. S. attack on the Japanese landing operations at Tarakan was carried out in unfavorable weather, the communique said, which made it difficult to determine the effectiveness of the attack. The U. S. planes returned to their base undamaged.

For nearly 40 days MacArthur has held out against devastating Japanese assault and today there were hints in Tokyo propaganda reports and the official American communiques that his forces still pack a potent punch.

The Japanese, in fact, went further than Washington's official advices and frankly admitted that MacArthur has launched counter-attacks against the troops which are pressing his Batan province lines. Tokyo insisted, however, that the counter-attacks were not effective.

The American reports credited MacArthur with a handy victory in a battle of big guns in which Japanese attempts to soften up MacArthur's lines for large-scale land assault failed notably.

However, it was emphasized by all informed military sources that MacArthur's battle is strictly defensive and against odds which mount in direct ratio to his losses of men and consumption of ammunition, food and material.

His task is to inflict as heavy losses as possible upon the Japanese; to deny them as long as possible the use of Manila bay's excellent harbor facilities; and to maintain his position as a thorn in the side of the Japanese forces occupying the Philippines.

MacArthur's position was likened to that of the British at Tobruk on the Libyan shore with the difference that there is only the scantiest possibility of reinforcing and supplying him by sea as the Tobruk garrison was during its long siege.

In contrast, MacArthur's forces and supplies are presumed to be considerably more ample than those which the British had when they were hemmed in at Tobruk.

While MacArthur fought his stubborn battle, American air forces appeared to be massing in the Dutch Indies and possibly at Singapore for the first real test of U. S. versus Japanese airpower.

There have been only fragmentary reports concerning the size of U. S. air forces in the Dutch islands but repeated reference in Dutch and British communiques to "Allied planes" strongly suggested that American airpower is making itself felt.

Nor was there any recent news on the operations of the considerable U. S. submarine fleet which is known to have been in far Pacific waters at the start of the war. A Japanese report of a "hospital ship" torpedoing in the South China sea, indicated that Japanese sea power in those narrow waters is not unchallenged.

Admit Withdrawals Continue In Malaya

LONDON — (INS) — British troops still are withdrawing in Malaya, military authorities in London conceded today.

The situation on the Malayan mainland must be considered "very, very grave," it was stated

Informed British quarters made no effort to conceal their belief that the Japanese threat to Singapore, the giant imperial Far Eastern bastion, is a perilous one.

In the absence of detailed communiques from Singapore and exact information regarding conditions in the Malayan peninsula, statements regarding the present status of the British defenders are mere guesswork, it was stressed.

But British authorities said it was "obvious that the situation is bad."

They added they believed that worse news must be expected before the situation can become better.

Informed quarters said they had no news to support any hope that the tired and seriously outnumbered imperial forces in Malaya can halt their southward retreat at present.

Japs Claim Hits On Plane Carrier

TOKYO—(INS)—(By Official Japanese Wireless) — Imperial headquarters claimed today that a Japanese submarine scored two torpedo hits on the United States 33,000-ton aircraft carrier Lexington or a vessel of the same type (the Saratoga) west of Hawaii Monday night.

(Editor's Note:' Informed of this Japanese claim, naval authorities in Washington said they had no confirmation and no news of any such attack. Axis nations frequently advance "phoney" claims of this nature in the hope of obtaining information.)

The Japanese communique said the submarine was unable to confirm that the aircraft carrier was sunk because it performed a crash-dive to escape a destroyer attack.

"But the sinking is believed certain as two heavy explosions were noted after the submarine submerged," the communique asserted.

ed far beyond the ranks of people who frequently have criticized the administration.

Only a few hours before the president's announcement yesterday, Chairman Tom Connally, (D., Tex.) of the senate foreign relations committee, an ardent supporter of the administration, said that what the production program needed was "one double-fisted, hard-boiled, brass-colored and iron-tongued man."

The president's announcement was unexpected. In fact, the dead cats still were flying and at least one was caught in mid-air. Wendell L. Willkie, 1940 Republican presidential candidate who conferred with the president at the White House yesterday, had prepared a speech for delivery last night to the U. S. conference of mayors He modified it after Nelson's appointment, indicating that he had not been informed of the move during his White House visit.

As armament procurement and production chief, Nelson will assume command of President Roosevelt's new all-out war program which calls for delivery this year of 60,000 airplanes, 45,000 tanks and 20,000 anti-aircraft guns. Much of the contemplated $56,000,000,000 expenditure for the war effort for the fiscal year 1943 will come under his direction.

There are no new faces in the president's fourth organization to run war production. Other members of the new board will be the present members of SPAB—Vice President Henry A. Wallace, OPM Director General William S. Knudsen, OPM's Co-Director Sidney Hillman, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of Navy Frank Knox, Price Administrator Leon Henderson, special assistant to the president Harry L. Hopkins and Federal Loan Administrator Jesse H. Jones.

Immobilizes Jap Offensive In Malaya as Aussies Prepare Attack.

It was said officially that there were 70 Japanese bombing and fighting planes in one fleet which raided the Singapore area.

Military authorities said the continued withdrawals of the imperial troops appeared more extensive on paper than they were in fact, considering Japanese numerical superiority and the terrain. They said the withdrawals did not constitute the "disaster" which might, to some, be indicated.

There was general expectation that the situation would improve as the imperial communications with Singapore became shorter and the road systems facilitated swift movement of reserves, while Japanese difficulties were calculated to increase steadily.

CHARGES G. O. P. PLANNING CITY SPENDING SPREE

less than 20 feet away, in another office.

The mayor answered a few questions during the telephone conversation. He admitted that he had "sat in" on a Republican council caucus preceding the regular meeting Monday night at which the Republicans overthrew all former council committee appointments.

The mayor said that he "did not have any idea" of who suggested the new committee personnel and that he himself had made no suggestions during the caucus meeting.

When asked what significance he attached to Miller's bitter "Thank you Mayor Locke," made at Monday night's council meeting following the change in the commttees, the mayor said:

"I didn't think it necessary to make any comment."

After Miller's remark, the mayor retired from the council room and spent the greater part of the remainder of the meeting in his private office.

Locke said that "he had no idea" of what Miller meant by terming him a "political boss."

Miller charged that "the reluctance of any of the Republican members of council to assume the credit for the new committee appointments leaves it at the door of Mayor Locke.

"He was the first one to bring the matter up," said Miller, "and when he did so, he had already planned what he would do about it."

The seven Republican members, who voted for the new committees seemed to be "in the dark" as to who suggested them.

Of the three veterans being held over from last year, Porch, new chairman of the finance committee, and C. N. Shultz, claimed that they had "nothing to do with" the original selections. Councilman George C. Kyle, who acted as Republican "whip" in Shultz's absence Monday night, when reminded that all other Republicans had denied any connection with the move, declined to comment.

Miller said that he was conferring with other Democrats on the legality of the Republican move. In overthrowing the president's selections, the Republicans flaunted a 38-year-old precedent.

Miller said that "the parks deserved as much as they can be given" but pointed to the Republican increase of more than 25 per cent in the parks' appropriations over 1941's as an indication of the "spending spree" to come.

"This and the many other money-consuming schemes which will be introduced before long are just a hint of what this politically-infested group have planned for the city," said Miller. "Our minority may be a small one but it will be active for the best interests of the people of Mansfield."

Meanwhile, the city's all-important 1942 appropriations bill was being prepared for submission to County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe, two days later than customarily.

The bill had not been signed and this brought on a flurry of excitement around city hall this morning.

Council President Miller signed the measure yesterday afternoon.

Mayor Locke affixed his signature this morning and called Councilman Russell D. Porch, Republican choice for chairman of the finance committee, to follow suit.

Following his signing of the ordinance, Mayor Locke had his office telephone the three members of the Republican-appointed finance committee, asking them to sign the ordinance.

Because Porch was busy at his office at the Westinghouse plant, the mayor had the ordinance sent to Porch by messenger for signature.

The mayor then returned the ordinance to Clerk of Council R. R. Black's office where Republican Councilman Shultz signed it shortly before 11 a. m.

The mayor's office had also called the home of Councilman Mihalich who was not removed from the original finance committee. Mihalick, who is employed by the Page Dairy company, was working at the time and could not be reached.

No salaries or bills can be paid by City Auditor Paul L. Kelley until County Auditor Wolfe returns the appropriations ordinance with a certificate of approval. The payroll, which gives about 160 city employes a total of approximately $15,000, is due Saturday.

The plan, supported by a majority of the delegates and drafted after consultation with the United States, calls for the establishment of a technical congress—probably in Washington — to have peace measures ready as soon as the war ends.

Another plan, sponsored by Chile with wide backing, will propose collaborative Pan-American naval convoys and a hemispheric general staff on defense, which probably would sit at Washington.

about where he stands on the pending bills. He told a press conference late yesterday that the senate version, with its farm bloc amendments, might be described as a bill to compel inflation rather than combat it.

The senate bill would require Henderson to get Wickard's consent before fixing price ceilings on farm products and, in addition, would prevent fixing of any ceilings below a level equivalent to about 120 per cent of present parity.

Mr. Roosevelt described the former provision as thoroughly unsound and the latter as more likely to contribute to inflation than anything he knew of. He contended that it would lead to a rise in the price of farm products that would bring demands for wage increases in industry, thus starting an upward price spiral which in the long run would be expensive to farmers as well as to the rest of the country.

ers, six torpedo boats and 14 transports.

Full extent of the damage inflicted was not disclosed immediately.

The new aerial successes were announced in a communique which told of a heavy new Dutch air offensive against Japanese forces now entrenched on Tarakan island.

It was indicated the Japs on the tiny oil-bearing island took a heavy pounding.

An earlier communique said:

"During skirmishes between Netherlands Indies troops and Japanese on the border of Sarawak, 18 Japanese were killed. On our side presumably one soldier was killed.

"A numbef of Japanese bombers raided ships in the harbor of Balikpapan without inflicting damage.

"Netherlands Indies bombers carried out an aerial bombardment of Tarakan during which a direct hit was scored on a Japanese ship.

"The projected destructions at Tarakan were completely carried out before the fight ended Monday last. The buildings and workshops of the naval air base at Tarakan were also completely wrecked. The same happened to the jetty, which was destroyed by the flames of the burning oil on the water.

"During the action at Tarakan no material was lost.

"No further details regarding action in the Minahassa area are available at the moment.

"It is reported from Ternate that during the air raid mentioned in a previous communique two soldiers were killed and one was slightly wounded, while one is missing.

"Tadjoeng Oeban in the Rhio Archipelago, in the neighborhood of Singapore, was bombed by Japanese planes. One soldier was killed and three others were slightly wounded. No serious damage was done.

"One of our warships was attacked by Japanese bombers, which however did not manage to get over their target. All bombs dropped fell far from the warship.

"A flying boat of the Royal Netherlands navy penetrated the south Philippine Islands and bombed a Japanese air base. A number of bombs were dropped on the runway while furthermore three direct hits were scored on the barrack on the edge of the air field. The flying boat returned safely to its base."

A new war communique said tonight that Dutch aircraft, launching a vigorous counter-offensive, bombed enemy occupied Tarakan and also a Japanese base in the southern Philippine islands.

In addition, the communique stated, Dutch troops went into action on the Sarawak border.

(Sarawak is the British protectorate on the northwestern portion of Borneo island which the Japs occupied earlier in the far eastern conflict.)

Earlier, it had been reported that large-scale air attacks by Dutch and other anti-Axis bombers were under way against Jap warship and transport fleets following capture of tiny, oil-bearing Tarakan island by the Nipponese.

The aerial counter-offensive got under way as the Japs struck from the air at the central east coast of Celebes island and at Ternate island, causing some damage and 40 casualties.

(In Melbourne, Air Minister Drakesford announced Australian planes assisting the defense of the Netherlands East Indies had registered direct hits on three Jap warships—a heavy cruiser, a light cruiser and a destroyer. This attack was carried out off Menado on the northern tip of Celebes island.)

Bitter fighting was reported still raging on the northern Minahassa peninsula of Celebes island. Fate of Menado itself was not clarified in announcements by authorities in Batavia.

(Tokyo claimed capture of Menado on Monday.)

ginning to feel the effects of the raw material shortage, and a total of 16 furnaces in the Pittsburgh, Cleveland, and Detroit areas have been banked.

Announcing the curtailment, Hill stated.

"This is a result of shortage of raw material, both on hand at the present time, and the possibility of not obtaining sufficient amounts in the future to continue operations as they have been in the past.

"Thousands of tons of scrap have been recently allocated by the government from this district to other steel producing centers where open hearth furnaces are already idle due to material shortages. This curtailment in the open hearth department has not affected the production in the other sheet finishing units. However, further curtailment of melting furnaces would necessitate a loss of production in this and other departments at the plant."

Meanwhile, the Associated Press reported from Washington that responsible government officials see a threat to the nation's huge war program in a possible shortage of from four to six million tons of scrap steel. Accordingly, they urged an immediate rummage of the country's vacant lots, backyards and cellars for all available scrap.

The United States last year made a record total of 83,000,000 tons of steel. Although experts figure the industry could turn out 89,000,000 tons this year, they expect production may be approximately 82,000,000 tons. They believe production will handle military needs, but if full capacity is not utilized, that civilian users will feel the pinch.

OHIOANS NAMED

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT FACE PIMPLES

These disfiguring spots affecting the outer or surface layer of the skin often result from a temporary, minor disturbance, or from incorrect cleansing.

You can relieve the itchy, burning soreness and thereby help your skin by using an ointment whose medication stays in active contact with the pimply spots. Apply it every night and leave it on all night. It does a world of good.

For 45 years people have used Resinol Ointment to fill this need. It soothes the irritated oil ducts where many surface pimples start, and so aids healing. Carefully cleansing the skin with Resinol Soap helps to quicken the pleasing results. Its gently active lather is refreshing and it rinses easily.

Buy a jar of Resinol Ointment and cake of Resinol Soap from any druggist. For free sample, write Resinol, Dept. 19, Baltimore, Md.

CHAPTER VIII

"You are now," he announced a trifle self-consciously, "looking at the new assistant clerk in Haddon's drug store."

"That—that's fine," Linda said, when his eyes rested on her flushed face inquiringly. The smile died from his eyes as though he sensed that Linda no longer cared. He had expected her to be happy—proud of his success. Instead she looked covertly at her mother, avoiding his inquiring glance.

For Linda the evening seemed to drag on and on, until at last Mary and John Phillips withdrew, leaving Linda and Kyle alone. Almost primly, she sat on the edge of her chair and stared at her hands, until Kyle bent over her and said coaxingly:

"How about a congratulatory kiss, dear. Don't I deserve one?"

Linda jerked away from him, despising herself for a sudden feeling of revulsion. "Please don't . . . don't touch me, Kyle."

Kyle eyed her, perplexed; then he demanded impatiently, "What's the matter with joy? You don't seem very glad I'm working again."

"How long will it last?"

Kyle stared at her anxiously. "Something's the matter," he decided heavily. "You haven't been yourself since—well, since you went to Chicago."

"And you want to know why?"

"Yes." Stiffly. "If there's something wrong, I think I deserve an explanation."

It required a strong nerve and a complete lack of sympathy to break the news, but Linda forced herself to go on and on. As she poured out the story of her disappointment at their often postponed marriage, Kyle winced, but Linda steeled herself against breaking down.

When she reached the part of her story regarding Greg, and the fascination he held for her, Kyle became almost violent.

"I knew you shouldn't have gone to Chicago," he raged. "You've had your head full of dreams—romantic nonsense about operas and plays, and meeting big shots for months now. I've seen it coming. Every time you're with Sally Barnes she makes you more dissatisfied with your own lot."

"That isn't true," Linda flared back. "Every girl wants nice things. That's only natural, but I was willing to wait for them. You came first. You know that you did."

Kyle ignored her honest statement. His sarcastic, "Have you fallen in love with a man or with the things he stands for—glamour and security?" made Linda protest desperately, but slowly his manner changed from one of anger and frustration to abject pleading: "Think how much we mean to each other—how long we've worked and planned, and saved together. What about me, Linda? You know how much I love you. You mean more to me than anything else."

"Do you think I don't realize all that and more?" she asked softly. "I've lain awake night after night, trying to figure this out, but it's too big for me to fight. I've got to know, Kyle. If I don't and if I try to forget Greg, and—and never see him again, it might ruin both our lives. Yours and mine. But if I've only imagined all this, it will make me love you more."

Kyle shook his head wearily. "No," he said wisely, "in spite of our engagement, if you have met someone who makes you feel unsure, then you have never loved me—really loved me, Linda, and this is our good-bye."

Linda clung to him desperately. "I do love you, Kyle. I do. I do!" It seemed incredible that the man she had cared for so long might be making his farewell for the last time.

"I hope that's right, Linda." He patted her shoulder gently. "I'm stepping out of the picture for awhile—until you make up your mind what you really want."

"But where will you be? Where can I find you?"

He gestured vaguely. "I'll be—around. Just whistle if you need me."

There were tears in Linda's eyes as she saw him to the door. "You—you're swell, Kyle. Really you are."

Kyle grinned weakly. "There comes a time in every man't life," he said, "when he wants to be a hero. I guess this is my turn now, and, frankly, the feeling is swell!"

Linda had little time to regret Kyle's unhappiness. The next few days seemed fairly to whisk by, and if there was any hostility in the family, Linda was too delirious with joy to notice. She made elaborate plans for entertaining Greg.

After her amazement at Linda's being daring enough to defy Prairievale conventions had given way to pleasure, Sally joined in the scheme by sending out invitations to a dinner party in her home, followed by dancing at the country club. This, despite Linda's protests.

"Nothing is too good for your new boy friend," she said airily, amused by Linda's flushed cheeks and downcast eyes.

"I've never been to the Prairievale Country club," Linda admitted. "I do hope Greg will like it—and me, too."

"He'd better like you," Sally returned firmly, "in view of the gossip you're having to endure."

"Gossip?" Linda was surprised. "What gossip?"

Sally giggled. "Now I know you're in love, Linda. Everyone in town knows a wealthy young man from Chicago is coming to Prairievale, just to see you."

"How could it get around?" Linda was shocked and confused. "I haven't told anyone."

"Sally shrugged. "That, my dear, is one of the mysteries connected with living in a small town."

"The—the people all sympathize with Kyle, don't they?" Linda inquired hesitantly. "Do they think I'm very—very bad, Sally?"

"Not bad, just foolish," the other girl answered bluntly. "Frankly, Linda, public sentiment is with Kyle because he's never had the opportunities so many of us have enjoyed. After all, he was raised in Prairievale the same as you were, and people seem to feel that if Kyle isn't good enough for you, no one is."

"How cruel they are," Linda said angrily. "They are condemning Greg even before they've seen him. And such fantastic stories! Greg isn't wealthy, but he's ambitious. He wants to be wealthy some day And he isn't coming here just to see me. It so happens—"

Sally interrupted, laughing. "I know, Linda, I know, so save your arguments for the people who are doing the gossiping, in case they don't like Greg."

"But they've got to like Greg," Linda was adamant. "Everyone must like him, Sally. It—it means so much to me."

By the time Greg's convertible roadster raced through Prairievale's main street to shriek to a stop before the Phillips house, Linda was weak with indecision and doubt. Her fears had started early that morning when her mother said bluntly, "What will you do if he doesn't come?"

Steadily her doubt mounted. Suppose he found her dull and unattractive in her home surroundings? Or, worse still, suppose she compared him again with Kyle and found him lacking? Kyle had been generous and understanding. Would Greg be as kind, or would he fight to hold her love? Linda felt a sudden thrill at that thought.

When she saw the car before the house, Linda went cold with dread. She wanted to run and hide. But later, standing on the porch as he approached her, Linda smiled into the eyes of the red-headed young giant, saw the audacious grin on his handsome face, and knew that her fright had been only temporary.

"Hello, sweetheart," he greeted her loudly, and Linda flushed. "Oh, Greg—"

She led him into the house made spic and span for the occasion, and while he made himself completely at home, Linda dressed for dinner. Her heart pounded madly. Her eyes sparkled with happiness.

When she re-entered the living-room, her mother excused herself nervously and left the room. Linda sat very still across the room from Greg, eager for his admiration. But he was staring curiously through the window.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 14, 1942.

Naming of Nelson Inspires Confidence

SELECTION of Donald Nelson as the long-advocated one-man head of wartime industrial production serves to inspire confidence that a genuine effort is now about to be made to systematize production of munitions and other war supplies to an extent that has been impossible under the divided-authority policies that have heretofore been practiced.

In appointing Mr. Nelson to the position of greatest responsibility, aside from the presidency, in the present national emergency, President Roosevelt made the definite statement: "His decision as to questions of procurement and production will be final . . . he will devote his entire time to directing the production program."

The impression that has been gained of Donald Nelson, in the early phases of his public service as well as from study of his previous record of advancement in mercantile pursuits, is that he is an example of typical American ability to develop capacity to fill positions of larger responsibility as opportunities appear, and belief, among those who know him well, is that this characteristic will carry him through to success in the tremendous task he is now called upon to perform.

It is recalled that Bernard Baruch, who served capably in a similar capacity during the World war, said in discussing the need for one-man control of production: "I think Nelson may be the man," which can be accepted as the estimate of a man who is in position to judge on the basis of knowledge of requirements.

The war production board, which succeeds the supply priorities and production board, will retain the members of SPAB but there will be the important difference that decisions will rest with one man, instead of operating under the divided authority that has hitherto retarded progress toward all-out industrial production for war purposes.

With the appointment of Nelson to the post of general supervisor of all production agencies—with full authority to make decisions and carry them through—the outlook for quickly turning billions of dollars into planes, tanks, ships and other war materials becomes much brighter.

Ask More Civilian Defense Volunteers

TALKS being given by Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, as chairman of Mansfield's civilian defense committee, are serving to spread information about the gradually developing civilian defense program for this city and vicinity, and also reveal the lack of public realization of the immensity of organization work required and the small response that has thus far been made to the call for volunteer workers.

Added to the few hundred who have already volunteered, there will be need for several thousand more Mansfield men and women to be trained and in readiness for specific duties in the event of such emergencies as must be prepared for, even if not anticipated.

As explained by Judge Kalbfleisch, each of Mansfield's 52 precincts will be divided into two units for protective organization, with four air raid wardens assigned in each of these 104 districts, so as to assure 24-hour service in 6-hour shifts.

There will also be requirement in each district for citizens suitable to serve as auxiliary firemen and policemen, as watchers, and in various other civilian defense capacities.

Actual set-up of the precinct organizations is scheduled for the near future and it is again being asked that men and women make known their willingness to serve their own precinct organization in work for which they are best fitted.

It is also suggested that as many persons as possible attend club and group meetings at which civilian defense is discussed by Judge Kalbfleisch, or some other speaker, so as to become better informed on this subject.

Guard Children Against Perverts

CONSTANT vigilance on the part of parents and juvenile court officials appear to be necessary to combat the menace of perverts who drift from one city to another, corrupting the morals of children until finally detected.

Practice has been to permit such offenders to leave the city, after evidence of their guilt has been established, but the most recent action, in which a year's workhouse sentence was imposed, at least serves to assure segregation of one degenerate for that long a time.

The formula followed by these persons in establishing acquaintance with young boys and making appointments to take them out in a car is so uniform as to justify suspicion, according to investigators, and it would be well for parents and school authorities to warn children to repel approaches by strangers and to immediately notify parents, teachers or Boy Scout officials of any odd behavior on the part of a man who shows inclination to hang around a school building and give candy to children, invite them to take a ride, or meet him later.

Want Light On Tire Changes

AS NEW ideas are hit upon in various cities, and these are passed around over the country, difficulties of tire thieves will be greatly increased.

In New Castle, Pa., for instance, motorists have been ordered not to change tires after night in a dark place, but to drive to the nearest street light and make the change there, so as to avoid suspicion of unauthorized tampering with a car.

Citizens of New Castle who see a person changing or removing a tire in a dark spot are authorized to demand to see the person's driver's license and owner's card for identification, and, in the event of refusal, are asked to call the police.

It is explained that the order is intended to give greater protection against tire thieves.

Drop Formality 'For Duration'

THE BRITISH learned long ago that war is a great leveller—that with a common cause and common problems and everybody sleeping in the same tube they couldn't help but get acquainted with each other.

Now that we're in, even Boston is ready to face the worst and dispense with formality. The Massachusetts committee on public safety has made it official by including in its air raid instructions the advice to "remember that everyone will help during a raid and that you will not need an introduction to seek shelter from a householder or in a business building."

A RUN ON THE SHORT ORDER RESTAURANT

Listen World!

No, I'm Not Ashamed

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

"AREN'T you ashamed of yourself?" my outraged elders thundered. "A great, big girl like you doing a thing like that!"

Shaken, sobbing, I tried to nod my young head in dutiful agreement. But there was no conviction in that nod. Enormous as my crime might be—and I felt, with not too secret pride, that it was Pretty Hot Stuff—and heavy as my punishment, the frightful fact remained that I WASN'T ASHAMED OF MYSELF!

I was, with those certain reservations, ashamed of the thing I had done. I was, without any reservations whatsoever, ashamed of the hurt I had given others. And irritated beyond words at the needless mess I had made of my own private program. But I wasn't ashamed of myself.

AND I NEVER YET HAVE BEEN.

That's a large statement to make after my years of mighty lively living. Many — perhaps most—will consider it a brazen statement. For sackcloth and ashes are still regarded as de rigueur for delinquents, as they were in the day of old Job. But personally, I've yet to scatter my first cinder on this sinful head or scratch my first hair shirt.

In the face of all my crimes of commission and omission, I still firmly refuse to be ashamed of Elsie.

To the contrary, since I first realized that I had a Self, unique, distinct and apart from the rest of the human race, I have been gratified and grateful for the fact and proud as blazes of it.

I can imagine no more glorious destiny than to be a human being, with the ability to judge, at least vaguely, between right and wrong, and the right to make my own decisions.

There are many shining miracles in this miraculous world—sunsets and silver dawns, black winds, long, swinging tides—but of them all there is to me no wonder more heartening than the existence of one's own Self.

That constant sense of inner personality — that yearning, dreaming, rebelling, experimenting life which one never sees, yet which one feels moving constantly within the body's shell—that masked yet so familiar stranger who is always so much finer, wiser, gentler and stronger than one's surface acts—there, to me, is the loveliest miracle on earth.

Ashamed of that Presence — that Other Self? NEVER!

Glad of it! Grateful for it! Proud of it! Passionately sure that some day it will triumph over the sluggishness of the body, the stupidity of the mind!

Never have I been ashamed of myself. Often I have betrayed that Self—and bitterly ashamed that I couldn't express its finer impulses. But never have I been ashamed of the Essential Me. And never have I really been ashamed of the stronger hungers, virile rages and vital curiosities which made me do the foolish things I have done.

I wish, of course, that they hadn't been foolish. But how did I know they were going to be foolish when they started out?

Originally they seemed to me as divinely inspired as that glorious inspiration which drove Columbus across the unknown sea — that sacred inquisitiveness which made Edison and Pasteur immortal.

How did I know that my adventure was to end in a mud puddle where Columbus' ended in a new continent. I didn't. But I took a chance. And got laughed at, of course. And cussed out. But at least I took a chance.

And I'm proud I took a chance!

I'm proud that, being given the privilege of freewill, I had the gumption to use it!

I'm sorry I hurt other people, and plenty peeved because I hurt myself, but I still refuse to feel wormy about it. I've made what amends I could. I've said I was sorry and been decently remorseful once. But, I warn you, I'm not going to keep it up.

I'd be a liar, coward and miserable hypocrite if I pretended to be lastingly sorry, for I'm not. I hope—golly, how I hope—that I won't make the same fool mistake again. But, whether I do or not, I'm going to keep on asking questions, making experiments and taking chances.

For, since the Lord made me that way, why not take Him at his word. He gave me the greatest, grandest gift within His power to bestow—the gift of my individual Self, my individual right to choose between right and wrong.

He didn't do all this in a 'fraid cat way—hiding behind a back fence and whispering a lot of sneaking instructions. He did it in a blaze of glory with all the birds in Paradise bursting their little throats to celebrate. And I'm going to carry on in exactly the same manner!

Ashamed of myself?

Like heck I am!

Lady, I'm for myself a MILLION! And if you don't feel likewise about Exhibit A, it's just your bad luck.

Health And Diet

Answering More Health Questions.

—By DR. CLENDENING

C. K.:—"I have heard that somebody found a tablet that was good for stomach ulcer. Could you tell me the name of the tablet?"

Answer: There are many tablets good for stomach ulcer—such as bicarbonate of soda tablets, and aluminum hydroxide, or creamalin tablets—but taking tablets alone is not the best way of treating stomach ulcer. You should consult a doctor and plan to take some time off with rest, diet, aspiration of stomach contents at night, as well as neutralization by medicine.

M. L.:—"Will eating peanuts (not salted) in excessive amount do any harm? They help constipation. I can get along without a laxative every night if I eat plenty of peanuts."

Answer: Peanuts are not completely digested and leave quite a residue in the intestines, but I never heard of using them for cathartic purposes before. They will do no harm.

B. F.:—"I was told that eating raw garlic was good for high blood pressure. Is this true?"

Answer: According to some of my correspondents, garlic has been successfully used for high blood pressure. It is also said to be an intestinal antiseptic and while I have had little personal experience with this, I have found that one must regard old, established opinions about drugs with a good deal of respect. At least it will do no harm to try it.

J. G.:—"Is St. Vitus dance to be considered serious in a boy seven years old? If so, what would you advise"

Answer: St. Vitus dance is a mild rheumatic infection which attacks the nervous system but never causes death. Most people recover within nine weeks or thereabouts without any treatment at all. The thing that needs to be thought of is to watch his heart for a year or more.

Daily Bible Thought

Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world the love of the Father is no' in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world.—I John 2:15.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Expect Pan American Conference To Result In Stand Against Axis

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

RIO DE JANEIRO—The Pan American conference convening here tomorrow will be the first in history ever held during a major war. It also is going to be the toughest and the most important.

Pan American conferences were postponed during the first World war, also during the depression. The diplomats figured that they might be embarrassed by too many complicated problems. So they side-stepped them, and continued their safe and insipid Pan American policy of distributing stereopticon slides of the Andes to women's clubs and sending red and green parrots to adorn the patio of the Pan American Union in Washington. This was about as far as anyone wanted to go with Pan Americanism.

But this time, the Pan American nations have jumped into the middle of a question never faced before—namely, is the Western Hemisphere going to stick together as bonafide Good Neighbors against Hitler and Hirohito?

The man who will have a great deal of responsibility for the success of this conference is Undersecretary Sumner Welles, a straight-talking hombre who has lived with and bled for Latin Americans ever since he was out of college. But even more responsible is the man who is host at the conference, Foreign Minister Aranha of Brazil, a mixture of toughness, charm, and graciousness, who is as hard a rooter for U. S. A. friendship as anyone below the Rio Grande.

They will be supported by a lot of other able foreign ministers, ardently for action against the Axis—especially those representing the Caribbean countries and Central America.

Pearl Harbor Aftermath.

BUT just the same, the job of getting a united front even against the very real threat of invasion is not going to be easy. Reason for this is that a new story has developed in Latin America since December 7. It is the story of fear. And it has increased since the fall of Manila.

The average Latin American, like the average North American, always looked upon the Japs as clever little people, but nevertheless little people. One Argentine or one Brazilian, they figured, could lick six Japs with both hands tied behind his back. So now it is not easy to estimate the damage done to our prestige by the pushing around we (and the British) have received in the Pacific since December 7.

Higher-up Latin Americans understand our explanations; and the man in the street is sympathetic. Nevertheless, no one can overestimate the big boost it would give our prestige and Sumner Welles' job in Rio if the navy could score a striking victory at this moment in the Pacific.

It must always be remembered that Latin Americans have a great respect for power. Certain Latin American army leaders have been called pro-Nazi, but actually they chiefly have the military man's admiration for a successful military machine. And having looked upon us as a nation of precision and power, our present inability soundly and instantly to slap the Japs' ears down, has made some of them think twice regarding our ability to uphold the Monroe Doctrine.

Strong U. S. Support.

IN VIEW of all this, it is a great tribute to Latin American friendship and shows how deeply the Good Neighbor policy has taken root, that the Rio conference starts off with so many bonafide U. S. A. supporters in the bleachers.

First there is Brazil, largest nation in Latin America and 100 per cent with the United States. Second are the countries which border the Panama Canal — Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Panama, Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras — which already have declared war on the Axis. Third are the countries bordering the Caribbean—Cuba, Haiti and the Dominican Republic, which also have declared war. Fourth, Venezuela, Colombia and Mexico which are near the Panama Canal and have severed diplomatic relations.

However, with the larger countries away from the Panama Canal it is a more cautious story. Chile, with nearly 3,000 miles of coastline along the Pacific, has seen our own California coast approached by Japanese submarines. So naturally it wonders how the U. S. navy, too busy to protect its own waters, could possibly defend the distant coasts of Chile.

Finally, there is Argentina, which has seen the Graf Spee come into the mouth of the River Platte, and Argentina is going to be the really tough nut to crack at this conference.

However, Sumner Welles has been doing some careful advance sounding out of Pan American foreign ministers and the prospects for an ultimately successful conference look good. One thing is especially important. No longer do the Pan Americans require a unanimous vote to adopt a definite policy.

Like the old Democratic conventions, hamstrung with the two-thirds rule, the Pan American conferences were frustrated in the past by requiring absolute unanimity. But this rule is now changed, and all the U. S. A. needs is a majority vote to adopt a strong stand against the Axis.

What we will aim for is complete severing of diplomatic relations with all Axis countries. And even if Argentina dissents, this much, by majority vote, we can get.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Motorists in this city are watching their speedometers and giving fire plugs a wide berth. They know Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine wasn't kidding when he decreed double fines, and even jail sentences, for traffic violations.

The commissioner is one of those hardboiled gents who deals bluntly with factual problems. "Some motorists can't be treated decently," he says, "so we'll sock 'em where it hurts. Double fines for first offenders. After that—jail."

IT WAS Lewis J. Valentine, ex-Brooklyn copper, now commissioner of all Metropolitan police, who gained a hard reputation during the gangster era. "Muss 'em up," he told his cops.

This led to charges by certain ladies' organizations in the city that he was "terrorizing thugs."

"That's right," the Commissioner replied. "I can't think of anything that needs terrorizing more than thugs." After that he called for a general policy of face-slapping for racketeers.

Dutch Schultz, now dead, came in for a measure of the commissioner's blunt contempt. The cops had orders to pick him up, and rather than come in in irons, Schultz surrendered. When Valentine was told that the gangster had voluntarily surrendered he bit his lip and said, "My only regret is that he is not being carried into the city of New York in a box."

Later the commissioner had his wish. Schultz was assassinated by rival gangsters in a Jersey saloon.

OCCASIONALLY, however, the commissioner's logic backfired, and newspapermen still chuckle over his discomfiture at roulette one day. A lot of gambling equipment had been seized, and Commissioner Valentine denounced all gambling as games for "suckers."

"Look here," he cried, tossing a chip on No. 7 and giving the captured wheel a spin. "I'll show you how ridiculous this is. You can't win."

The newspapermen and the cops held their breath. Around and round the little ball sped, and finally it came to rest on No. 7.

The cops gulped, the reporters let out a whoop, and the commissioners face slowly turned to a brilliant red.

SHARING Commissioner Valentine's ire at careless motorists is Chief Magistrate Henry E. Curran, who bawled, "The most inaccessible object in New York today is a fire hydrant. It is so surrounded by parked cars that a fireman must be a Columbus to discover it."

Ergo, police department clerks have set to work stamping 100,000 extra summonses. Six hundred cops have been turned loose in the mid-town area. Most streets in the Manhattan business district will be forbidden parked cars. Commissioner Valentine says at least 100,000 cars are parked illegally in Manhattan every 24 hours.

The Commissioner aims to do something about it.

Timely Editorial

The Carriers Came Through.

Newspaper carriers have for many years set up an admirable record of dependability and service. In all weathers, in all conditions of disaster and disorder, they deliver the news.

It is a pleasure to read a tribute to its carrier boys by the Honolulu Star-Bulletin. Despite the confusion attendant on the sudden and unexpected attack on the islands by the Japanese, the carrier boys never missed a delivery. "All around the island," the Star-Bulletin reports directly after the raids, "the paper is being delivered to its customers daily, and in most cases on time or ahead of time."

Because the Star-Bulletin is the only comprehensive and authoritative news source on the islands, these boys of every race have performed a public service, and added one more sprig to the laurels of that great American institution, the newspaper carrier boy.—Cleveland Press.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Benedict Arnold, notorious American traitor, was born on Jan. 14, 1741. Arnold, who had distinguished himself for bravery at Quebec and Sartaoga, had not been advanced as rapidly in the American army as he thought he deserved to be. Encouraged by British officers and by his wife, Arnold betrayed his country. Escaping to a British war vessel he was rewarded with the command of the British troops in Virginia.

A Farmer's Diary

Rural Blackout

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

IN ONE of the fertile valleys neighboring ours, where electric light poles stand, as in our own, in a new, thin line—but with no wires to connect them—I talked with an old farm woman. Her hands were red and cold as she hung out the washing. The blanket sheets whipped in the wind as she pinned them up, securely, and a hearty twinkling smile beamed forth as she said,

"Yes, I've got a new electric washer in my back porch. My boys gave me electric gifts for Christmas. Two of 'em work for the electric company. I've even got one of them warmin' pads for in my bed and a curlin' iron with several temperatures—but looks like, until we win this war, I'll have to hang on to my kid curlers and the old soapstone.

"We thought, last spring, we'd have everything convenient this winter. We planned on a furnace and bath, an electric range and lights in the chicken house so the hens could lay eggs overtime—and warm water handy without so much hard work to get it. And now look!

"There stand them light poles with transformers on and all, and wires leadin' into every house along this road, but no wires between at all, at all. Us women have to keep right on fillin' and cleanin' and trimmin' the old oil lamps, and washin' on washboards, and totin' warm water from the kitchen reservoir to fill up the chicken waterers three times a day.

"I have to kindo' smile when I hear about them practice blackouts they're havin' some places. We have a blackout every night, out here.

"My daughter and her family came out here the Sunday after New Year's, from a big town that's been blacked out several times. She put the new baby down in the old crib behind the stove, and he slept like a top. We had a roast chicken dinner—all around the old table in the big kitchen. It had snowed, and the kitchen was the warmest room in the house.

"After supper, the boys played checkers and I popped some corn and my daughter showed me a knitting stitch she'd learned. I got myself an oil lamp with a shade with some of the egg money. You can screw a little gadget in and turn it into an electric lamp anytime. We had a right nice, quiet, homey evening—like old times.

"My girl remarked, when she left, next day 'Gee, Mom, this has been a rest for me. I don't know if I want this place to go all modern. Bright lights seem right in town—it's awful without 'em—but out here . . . well, you know what I mean. It's home, this way!'"

TWO INJURED

Icy Pavements Cause Traffic Mishaps Near Bucyrus.

BUCYRUS — Slippery streets caused several automobile accidents in and near Bucyrus Monday night and Tuesday.

Two Sandusky business men were admitted to City hospital following a mishap six miles north of Bucyrus on state route 4 early Tuesday.

Jack B. Springer, 30, and Frank Senn, 37, executives of the Brightman Nut company of Sandusky, were the injured persons. Springer suffered a lacerated right leg and a back injury and fractured ribs. Senn received severe bruises. Their car turned over after skidding on the icy pavement.

Stanley Harod of Waynesfield was driver of a freight truck which skidded into the ditch on route 30-N, east of Bucyrus. In Bucyrus two collisions due to icy pavements were reported.

ICE BLAMED

Accidents at Crestline Due To Slippery Streets.

CRESTLINE—Icy streets and highways were given as the cause of several automobile accidents Monday evening although no one was reported injured.

Leo Schindeldecker of Mt. Gilead skidded on South Thoman street, his car crashing into the parked car of C. F. Dickinson, damaging the left front end. Stanley Harod of Waynesville skidded into the ditch along 30-N about a mile west of town. Harod was driving a Summit Freight company truck from Mansfield to Chicago.

Don Packard, driving one of the Ford Central delivery trucks, skidded on North Seltzer street about 9 a. m. Tuesday, crashing into a school bus driven by Marion White.

MODERN WAY TO FIGHT COLDS

Father John's Medicine Builds Strong Resistance

MILLIONS HAVE USED IT WITH SUCCESS

It is now generally acknowledged that the best way to fight colds is to build strong bodily resistance. Users of Father John's Medicine have known this during its 85 years of use. It is not a temporary treatment but a strength-building medicine that gives real relief. While easing the symptoms it helps the body throw off the cold and become strong and vigorous. Father John's Medicine is pure, nutritious, wholesome and very rich in the essential vitamins A and D.—Adv.

INSTALLATION HELD BY B'NAI B'RITH

Banquet and Dance Given at Mansfield-Leland Hotel In Connection With 25th Annual Installation of Lodge and Auxiliary Officers.

TWENTY-FIFTH annual installation of officers was combined with a dinner and dance by members of B'nai B'rith in the ballroom of the Mansfield-Leland hotel last evening. Guest speaker for the occasion was Rabbi Leon Feuer, of Toledo, whose subject was "The Outlook for the Jewish Problem In 1942." He stated that, in spite of a somewhat somber outlook, there is a ray of hope.

Surprise feature of the evening was distribution of booklets containing defense stamps to all present. In each booklet was a note, "We started it, now you finish it." Value of stamps given amounted to $100. Recipients responded with enthusiastic applause.

The long tables were attractively decorated with bouquets and there was a large floral arrangement in the center of the speaker's table. Albert Negin, of Lima, deputy for this district, installed the following officers: president, J. C. Kalish; first vice president, Arthur Negin; second vice president, Andrew Klein; treasurer, J. M. Cousins; secretary-treasurer, Al Cousins; secretary, M. Stern; warden, Rabbi D. Rub; guardian, Saul Doppelt; monitor, L. J. Goler; historian, Dr. A. David Smith.

Installation took place, also, for the Auxiliary to B'nai B'rith. Officers who will serve during 1942 are Mrs. Miriam Goler, president; Mrs. Anne Smith, first vice president; Mrs. Sarah Bachrach, second vice president; Mrs. Ada Frankel, treasurer; Mrs. Frances Baker, secretary; Mrs. Esther Kevey, sentinel, and Mrs. Frieda Goldsmith, counsellor.

Mrs. Goldsmith, retiring president of the Auxiliary, presented a $50 defense bond to the men's lodge for cooperation received during the past year. Mayor W. J. Locke was a guest last evening.

Music for dancing which followed the banquet and installation, was furnished by Tommy Van's orchestra.

Chapter Night Program Plans Made at Meet

Mrs. Mildred Hempfield, Bowman street, entertained members of the membership committee of the Women of the Moose at her home Tuesday evening. Mrs. Audrey Wright served as associate hostess. Eleven members and three guests, Mrs. Ethel Ferrell, Mrs. Barbara Kosick and Miss Ruth Roesch, senior regent of the Women of the Moose, were in attendance.

During the business session, which was conducted by the committee chairman, Mrs. Gaynelle Roth, plans were made to purchase several defense bonds. The chapter night program of the committee will be held Jan. 21 at the Moose home. Bridge was the diversion of the evening. Prizes were won by Miss Ramona Frederick and Mrs. Hempfield. Luncheon was served at small tables attractively decorated with winter flowers. The next meeting will be held Feb. 19 at the home of Mrs. Sarah Baker, Walker Lake road. Mrs. Letha Hageman will be the associate hostess.

Church Society Holds Meeting At Moore Home

Love and Friendship class members of the Mayflower Congregational church held a meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Glenn Moore, Buckingham street. Mrs. Opal Crites was the associate hostess. Woodland P. T. A. Plans to Buy Defense Bond

The Parent-Teacher association of Woodland school voted to purchase a defense bond from association funds as a part of their regular meeting last night at the school.

An appropriation of $25 was voted to purchase the bond. In financial reports presented at the session, it was disclosed that a sum of $59.45 was raised at a recent benefit bridge conducted by the association and that $59.71 was obtained through the collection by pupils of waste paper. The money will be used for school purposes.

A committee consisting of Mrs. John J. Kindel, Mrs. Donald Given and Mrs. James Rizer was appointed to confer on school equipment purchases.

During the program the association heard an address by Judge S. H. Cramer who spoke on the work of the Richland county probate and juvenile courts.

C. A. Divelbiss, Woodland principal, conducted a geography lesson on Spain similar to the visual education class he conducts in the sixth grade. Members of the association were the "pupils."

Orlo Smith, president, presided during the meeting.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"In other words," Mary said with a grin, as she stopped pirouetting and started for the door, "for nefarious reasons of your own, you want me to get the hot place out of here and stay out, only you're too ladylike and refined to put it that way."

She waggled a mocking finger at me as she opened the door. When it had closed upon her I immediately turned to the telephone.

"All right, Father," I said laconically when he had answered my call, and he was equally terse in h' answer.

"I'll be right over," he said. Then as he replaced the receiver, I heard him say, "Sorry, Ronald—"

The click of the receiver cut off the rest, but that was enough to tell me that Ronald had arrived. Although I was most anxious to see the lad now so bravely battling against terror, I knew that I must put even speculation aside until I had done with the task my father required of me.

Fears Disapproval.

I sat down in the nearest chair, put my fingers on its arms and pulled myself into the composure necessary to meet my father and give him the information he expected.

It was less than five minutes before he appeared.

I was so fatigued by all the bizarre happenings in which I had been involved that I felt distinctly "jittery," but I flattered myself, as I opened the door to my father's knock, that I was concealing it creditably.

Spencer Relents.

But his eyes have lost with age neither their keenness nor their shrewdness, and I saw him look at me closely as he came into the room and shut the door after him. Then he put a tender, reassuring hand upon my shoulder.

"I know I'm an ogre," he said, with one of his rare smiles, "but I'm not of the 'man-eating—or in this case the women-eating—variety."

I gave a relieved laugh, wondered if there was a note of hysteria i. it.

"I'm glad to hear that," I said, smiling at him. "I fully expected to be devoured as soon as you reached here."

"Sit down," he commanded abruptly, and when he had put me into a chair and seated himself opposite he put the query I had been dreading.

"Where is Mary?" he asked.

I drew my breath in sharply.

"Before I answer that question," I said when I could speak, "will you let me tell you from the beginning what I have done since I saw you?"

Madge Explains.

His eyebrows contracted in a swift frown, then relaxed.

"Very well," he said, his hands resting on the arms of his chair, "go ahead. But tell me one thing first. You said you had received Noel's consent to this arrangement of Mary's meeting Redfield?"

"Yes, he consented," I said dully.

"ongratulations, my dear," he said surprisingly. "I didn't think you'd be able to do it. I want you to tell me exactly what methods you used, and detail every word of the conversation between you. I suppose the lad was pretty well cut up."

"Yes, he was," I said, suddenly lifted a good distance from the depths of discouragement to which I had descended, and forthwith I gave my father what Dicky would describe as a "round by round" account of my conversation with Noel

"I felt that it was a sorry victory," I concluded, "for though he consented at last, his suffering, though he tried to conceal it, was painfully evident."

My father nodded, his face thoughtful and abstracted. Then he looked at me with something almost quizzical in the glance.

"And I suppose," he said, "that when you told Mary of his sufferings, she promptly took back her promise to contact Redfield again."

HOROSCOPE

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, Jan. 15.

A day of high-pressure and forceful tactics may be successfully applied to new enterprises, in which great initiative and ingenuity are required for putting over ambitious projects. New and untried objectives should be pushed to desired goals but with some opposition, intrigue and underhand methods of attack from strangers, elders or some kind of secret organizations. Keep alert to all hidden and obscure contacts and use well-organized strategies to avert duplicity and fraud. Attend to health and family welfare.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a year of lively and productive activities with new and major projects moving at high tempo with gratifying results. These springing from excellent skill, much creative ability and initiative, and with determination and decisive measures when opposition as well as craft, shrewdness, duplicity and peculiar intrigues menace. Be vigilant as to all strange and suspicious contacts where there may be subterfuge and betrayal lurking. Care for the health and for happiness of the domestic, social and affectional associations.

A child born on this day should have much skill, initiative and constructive ability with energy, originality and resolution, but may be subject to imposition and fraud as well as intrigue and betrayal where little expected.

GETS POST

MT. GILEAD — Mrs. Elizabeth Neal of Carcington, became an investigator Monday in the Morrow county office of the division of aid to the aged.

She succeeds Floyd Davis who has been investigator for the past two and one-half years.

MEET THURSDAY

SHELBY — Sunshine club will meet Thursday for a meeting at the home of Mrs. Harry Stroup on the Shelby-Plymouth road.

"No Child of Mine will ever get WORMS!"
Don't be so sure, Mother!
Anybody, anywhere, can have roundworms! Yes, and the ugly creatures may be living inside your child right now, starting trouble, without your even knowing it. If your child is pale, underweight, nervous, has an uneasy stomach, picks at nose or seat — these ugly roundworms may be at work.
Play safe! Get Jayne's Vermifuge at once. It acts very gently, yet expels stubborn worms. And if no worms are there, it acts just as a mild laxative. Jayne's is America's best known proprietary worm medicine, used by millions, for over a century. Demand Jayne's Vermifuge! At all drug stores.

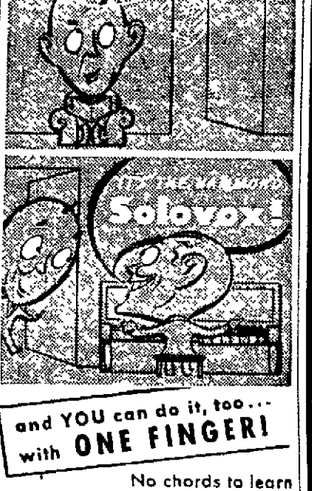
"The Authority on Authorities"

TENACES NOT NEEDED

Most throw-in plays compel an opponent to return some suit in which the lead comes up to your tenace or guarded secondary honor, or else offer a choice between doing that or leading a suit which can be ruffed in one of your side's two hands while the other gains the vital discord of an otherwise losing card. Some of them are made, though, when you have no such guarded honor or tenace. In these cases, the strip play fixes the opponent so that he has nothing to lead but cards which enable you to gain a ruff and-discard.



(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass

In the beginning, you can see one losing trick in hearts here and two in clubs, but Mrs. W. S. Athey, of Washington, playing in the nationals at Richmond, made two of these disappear. After East led the heart Q to the A, she quickly parked the heart loser on the second top diagram, ruffed dummy's other heart as the start of a stripping process, then kept it up.

The spade A was an entry to ruff the diamond 4, the 10 was one to ruff the diamond 9, and the next spade set the stage for the crucial play. The club A was scored and the 8 led to the K. West had nothing left but red cards, which were now eliminated from both the closed and faced hands. So she had to lead one of them, choosing a heart. On this the dummy's last club, the 5, was thrown, while the trick was ruffed in the closed hand. This left the dummy nothing but a trump, which took the final trick.

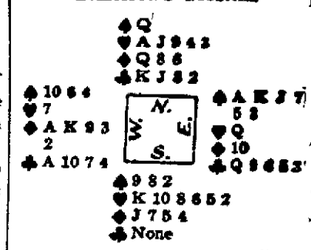
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

How would you recommend planning your leads from the South hand of this deal, in an effort to defeat a contract of 5-Spades by East, if your partner had opened the bidding with 1-Hearts?

Tygers Rally In Second Half to Break Ashland Jinx

Sport Podge by REX HESS

The Ohio conference, athletic governing body of the majority of Ohio colleges, met one night last fall at the Mansfield-Leland hotel for the purpose of turning down a plea by some of the smaller schools for the use of freshman athletes, to strengthen teams undermanned because of the then national emergency.

It isn't that I'm just discovering that the meeting was held. As a matter of fact I was kicked out of the meeting by the conference brass hats, who took the position that no newspaperman could be trusted to tell anything but the truth when the truth might hurt.

The conference secretary gave me the story of the meeting after it was over, and it was duly recorded in the press of Ohio at that time. Summed up in one short sentence it was: "The conference votes no."

The smaller schools, struggling along with football squads of 15 to 19 men, had been expected to lay their cards on the table and demand relief from an impossible competitive situation. I learned, however, from a few friends attending the session that the smaller schools didn't register the anticipated beef

Ashland, Marietta and Mt. Union didn't care to be put in the "dog-in-the-manger" light with which their bigger and "holier-than-thou" brethren were certain to regard them.

Already the situation is changed. The national emergency has turned into war. Athletes are preparing to fight, and die if necessary, for Uncle Sam, instead of "dying for dear old Rutgers," and room, board, and tuition and a job winding the chapel clock.

Furthermore the colleges, one by one, are falling in line with the war requirements for a speed up in education, and are preparing for continuous classes without summer vacation, and for degrees on the assembly-line basis, turned out in anything from two and a half to three and a half years, instead of the conventional four.

This does things to the athletic eligibility problem too.

Now, some of the old conference bulwarks are putting out hints that freshmen may be permitted to play next fall, not because there's any lack of man power, oh, no, but to give every student athletic training

This tickles me no end, and must bring more than a passing chuckle to the little fellows who struggled through the 1941 football season with undermanned squads

Practically every college already has a physical education program which gives every student, including men and women, plenty of exercise.

Past masters in the art of cleaning linen, the old bulwarks are now washing their undies in Lux.

Athletic Supplies Clip Westinghouse Electrics

Move Into First Place of City 'A' League With 34-32 Victory

It took three overtimes to do it, but the Westinghouse Electrics were finally beaten last night in City "A" league cage competition. Sparked by a last second pivot shot by Dave Shelley, the Athletic Supplies took a 34-32 decision and moved into first place in the loop standings.

It was the first time that the Westinghouse team, winner of the first round of league play, has been downed this season.

In the first quarter the Electrics held a 6-4 advantage, but by the half the Athletics led, 14-13.

Third period play saw the Electrics raise the score in their favor to 19-14 before Bruce McGinty took over for the Supplies and single handed racked up nine points to bring his team within one point of tying the Electrics at the third quarter, 24-23.

Three lead changes and two tied scores featured the last period. With his team trailing by one point with 20 seconds to go Ed Mahon of the Supplies caged a free throw to force the game into the first extra period.

Bob Shade gave the Westinghouse club a two-point advantage as the first extra period opened, but with 15 seconds remaining Shelley looped in a shot from the center of the floor, tying the score at 32 all

After a scoreless second overtime Shelley again dropped in a field goal to win the game.

McGinty led the Supplies' scoring with five field goals and six free throws for a total of 16 points.

In the second game of the evening on the Mansfield Senior high school floor the City News upset the Yuncker Sports, 36-26.

Going into the second period trailing 8-6, the Newsies took over the lead at the halfway mark, 14-12, and increased it to 23-16 by the end of the third stanza.

* * *

Joe Miller and Bill Herpich led the Supplies' scoring, Miller with nine tallies and Herpich with 10. Gilliland of Yunckers was game high scorer, however, with 12 points.

The Blue Goose Sohioans took a non-loop game from Hunt's News in the Friendly House loop, 25-14, for the third match of the evening. The Ohio Public Service squad, originally slated to meet the Sohioans, was forced to cancel the game because of an OPS club meeting.

Bivins Clips Soose's Bid

Fight Held Although Clevelander Overweight.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Don't bet too much on Billy Soose's chances of winning the light heavyweight boxing title—not for a while, anyhow. The Farrell, Pa., battler not only was upset last night by Jimmy Bivins, but plans to enlist in the navy Thursday.

Spotting the Clevelander six pounds, the Pennsylvanian fought a good battle but was just out-punched for the ten-round decision before 8,066 fans who contributed a $15,81.1 gate to Promoter Bob Brickman's care.

* * *

Bivins, ranked fifth among the light heavies, came in at 178 pounds—two above the pre-fight agreement—but Soose went on with the fight and took a decisive beating.

* * *

It was in the ninth round that Bivins, frequently a slow finisher, showed to best advantage. He caught Soose in a corner and delivered a telling blow. Billy's handlers proclaimed it a low one, but Referee Joe Sedley said no.

* * *

"We don't know whether Billy will have any more fights—in the ring—or not," said his manager, Paul Moss, who also expects to enlist soon.

"Billy is going to sign up in New York Thursday and that's all we know."

Bill Fenn Rolls High Tire Total

Hitting every game over the 200 mark, Bill Fenn showed the way to Mansfield Tire keglers at Colony alleys last night with a 622 total on a string of 206-204-212.

Nick Schmidt rolled high game of 224 while Bauer had 222.

Hogan Takes Los Angeles Open From Jim Thompson

By ROBERT MYERS

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Championship golf still pays off on the man who can get 'em down when the chips are down.

Little Benny Hogan proved this when he played the David to Jimmy Thomson's Goliath yesterday, cracking the husky California professional with one spectacular shot on the 18th green that won the playoff of the 17th annual Los Angeles open.

Hogan ran into tougher opposition than many expected before squeezing out a one stroke triumph for the $3,500 first prize. He had a 36-36—72 and Thomson, winner of the L. A. open in 1938, had a 38-35—73.

Hogan, using a golf shot instead of a slingshot, felled the California giant with a birdie four on the last green—a birdie that brought peace and calm to thousands of nervous dollars wagered on the little Hershey, Pa., expert.

Thomson overshot the first green for a bogie and Hogan went to the front. Benny birdied the second and fourth and pulled ahead by three strokes.

Good natured Jimmy failed to wilt, however, and pulled up on even terms on the 13th. Neither player could be labelled better than good at this stage, but they were handicapped by a gallery of 4,000 which trampled on their heels and in their hair.

SPRINGFIELD PUCKSTERS WIN MATCH FROM BARONS

(By Associated Press)

The Springfield Indians increased their lead in the eastern division race of the American hockey league to five games last night with an 11 to 2 victory over the Cleveland Barons.

The defeat prevented Cleveland from moving into a tie for first place in the Western group with the Hershey Bears, but the Barons get another opportunity tonight at Pittsburgh.

Rhine Paces Transportation

Gets 603 Total With 147 In Last Game.

Dick Rhineof Silver King Tractors set the pace in the Transportation bowling league last night at Colony alleys with a 603 total, and was well on his way to a load of lumber until he dropped to 147 in the last game after 244, which was high game for the league.

Forsythe turned in a 601 total. Long also was on the way to a high mark with opening games of 22 and 213, and then dropped to 148 for a 595 total.

Women Bowlers Join Book Drive

Members of the executive committee of the Mansfield Women's Bowling association have decided to join in the Victory Book campaign for the collection of new and used books to be sent to army camps

A committee composed of Kate Cheney, Dee Schroff, Ev Jocha and Donna Schuster has been named in charge of the book collection for the association, and Manager Al Vogel has announced that books may be brought to the Colony bowling alleys where they will be turned over to the committee.

The campaign is not limited to the women bowlers. All bowlers and others wishing to contribute through this medium, are asked to bring their donations to the bowling alleys.

NAVY OFFERS TO TAKE DEMPSEY FOR SERVICE

MUSKOGEE, Okla.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey may be too old for the army, but he's got an invitation to join the navy.

Recruiting Officer A. T. Husted wired the former heavyweight champion:

"Recent news reports say army rejected your attempt to enlist. Navy welcomes fighting men from 17 to 50 years and this office invites you to join the navy and free the world."

2 Games Won By One Point

Ohio U. and Wittenberg Shade Dayton, Northern.

(By Associated Press)

One-point victory margins provided thrills for fans on Ohio's collegiate basketball front last night.

Ohio University's Bobcats clawed invading Dayton University, 36 to 35, and Wittenberg edged Ohio Northern, 48 to 47, in an Ohio conference tilt at Ada.

Ohio University's behind 19-15 at halftime, overtook the Flyers in the final stanza and at one time led 35-26, but couldn't keep the pace. The victory was Ohio U.'s third in seven starts and gave Dayton two losses against five victories.

* * *

It was Forward Woltjen's free throw that accounted for Wittenberg's victory after the Polar Bears, on the short end of a 30-19 score at the half, flashed to a 40-59 lead only to have the count knotted at 45 and 47 points before the deciding tally. The victory was the Lutherans' second straight in loop play and Ohio Northern's first loss in four conference starts.

* * *

Smarting over its defeat by Marshall, Toledo University knocked off Cincinnati's Bearcats, 50-41, for its 11th win in 12 starts this season. Rocket Center Bob Gerber scored 19 points but the game actually was won from the foul line, Toledo sinking 14 of 21 free throws, compared with five of 18 for the Bearcats. The game was at Cincinnati.

* * *

Mount Union steam-rollered Heidelberg, 78-44, for its fourth consecutive Ohio conference victory and seventh win of the season. The invading Student Princes took an early lead but trailed 36-21 at the halfway mark before losing their fifth game in eight starts.

In other contests Tiffin edged Defiance, 43-41, at Tiffin, and Akron University thumped Western Reserve, 70-54, at Cleveland.

Chalk Up 42-31 Victory Over Traditional Rivals

Trail 10-21 In First Half; Take 31-10 Margin During Second

MANSFIELD HIGH'S TYGERS routed an old jinx and broke an old established custom last night as they invaded Ashland for a 42 to 31 basketball victory.

The custom has been for Ashland to win at Ashland and for Mansfield to win at Mansfield in the annual series between the traditional rivals.

Last night's battle started out just that way as the Tygers connected on only three shots out of 26 in the first half, all of them dunked by big Bob Winbigler on his patented one-handed flips at the hoop.

The A's, who had been defeated only once this season, and that last Friday night at Mt. Vernon, started out in top form, outscoring the Tygers 8-3 in the first quarter and 13-7 in the second.

Besides Winbigler's three buckets and a free toss, foul shots had been registered by Joe Romano, Robinson and Altamonte, under an allotment of one each. It wasn't a spectacular scoring spree on the part of the Tygers.

Coach Vern Hoffman told them so between halves as he pulled a Knute Rockne on the boys. "You act like a bunch of farmer boys every time you come over here," the Tyger tutor told his charges. "You seem to think you're supposed to lose in Ashland. I'm not even going up to watch you play this second half" And he didn't.

Whether Hoffman burned the boys up with this speech is not recorded. The fact remains the entire team was hotter than a biscuit in that last half, missing only three out of 15 open shots at the ring.

* * *

Paul Dietzel led the second half drive with three buckets and three free tosses. Winbigler added three buckets to his first half quota for a total of 13 points. Jack Shiplet crashed through with three buckets. Joe Romano chalked up two buckets and a free toss. And Altamonte and Al Hager each racked up a free point.

The third quarter found the Tygers outscoring their opponents 17-7 and in the last period they continued the spree with a 15-3 margin.

So, after trailing 3-8 in the opening period and 10-21 at the half, the Tygers came back to cut the margin to one point at the third stanza, 27-28, and sprint into the lead in the final heat 42-31.

* * *

Coach Vere Smith's Tyger reserves were unable to hit in their usual fashion in the preliminary tilt and were defeated 21-14. Of the 14 points, only five were registered by the starting quintet.

Musical Production.

United for the seventh time in the musical production, "Babies on Broadway," showing at the Ohio, Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland add a few more pictures to their gallery of characters by impersonations of Harry Lauder, Fay Templeton and Carmen Miranda. Mickey does the portrayal of Miss Miranda, the Brazilian bombshell. Age-old story of the hopes and heartaches of the youngsters who hope to crash Broadway every year the picture is embellished with several elaborate production numbers including a minstrel show. James Gleason, Fay Bainter and Virginia Weidler are in the cast.

Modern Comedy.

A bright young man follows his college instructor's advice by wedding the boss's daughter in order to get a job in the comedy, "Marry the Boss's Daughter," opening Thursday at the Madison. Brenda Joyce and Bruce Edwards play the leading roles and George Barbier has the part of the father. The hectic story of an ex-prize fighter who enrolls at Harvard university is told in "Harvard Here I Come," the second feature, with Maxie Rosenbloom and Arlene Judge.

Exciting Plot.

Wallace Ford and Marian Marsh are co-starred in "Murder By Invitation," the Ritz attraction. "Nine Lives Are Not Enough," the second production, has Ronald Reagan and Joan Perry.

Gay Theme.

Gloria Swanson, the screen's glamor girl of not so many years ago, returns to play a temperamental actress in the Park attraction, "Father Takes a Wife," starring Adolphe Menjou. One of the most sparkling comedies of the season the picture gives Menjou the role of a shipping magnate, somewhat of a gay dog, who marries a stage star in the hopes she will give up her career. Dezi Arnaz, a young Cuban newcomer to the screen, makes his bow as the actress' protege while Florence Rice and John Howard are also cast. "Let's Go Collegiate," with Jackie Darro is the second picture.

Absorbing Story.

"Meet John Doe," the Majestic attraction, co-stars Gary Cooper and Barbara Stanwyck. Sonja Henie and Tyrone Power are featured in the second picture, "Second Fiddle."

CHOIR TO GIVE PERFORMANCES

Senior High Songsters Will Appear on Saturday Night Theater Program.

Mansfield Senior high school's a capella choir of 106 voices will sing two of the Welsh airs that enhance the picture, "How Green Was My Valley," at the Ohio theater Saturday night.

Directed by A. LeMoine Derr the choir will sing at both the first performance at approximately 7 p. m. and again at 9 p. m. The singers will offer "Penparke" and "Rachae," and the former number will be embellished by both a male trio and trio of female voices.

The Welsh Eisteddfod choir provides the music in this film directed by John Ford, two times Academy Award winner, before he retired to enter service as a lieutenant commander in the United States Navy.

Hailed as a distinguished achievement in the annals of motion pictures "How Green Was My Valley," is an adaptation of Richard Llewellyn's novel by the same name. It tells the simple moving story of a Welsh family never conquered by hardship, hunger or hate, nor the turbulent years that stole the verdure from their valley.

The cast is headed by Walter Pidgeon, Maureen O'Hara, Donald Crisp and little Roddy McDowall, the latter as a crippled child whose faith taught him to walk.

Advertisement for Bids for Depository for Funds of Mansfield City School District Public Library.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED BY THE LIBRARY BOARD
December 22, 1941

RESOLVED: That this Board estimates that the aggregate maximum amount of inactive funds belonging to this Board for the ensuing two years is $10,000.00 which should be deposited as "Inactive Deposits" under the provisions of the "Uniform Depository Act":

That this Board invite eligible institutions in Richland County which desire to act as such depository to submit sealed bids naming the interest which will be paid on such inactive funds for the ensuing two years and the amount which such institutions will accept on those terms:

That such bids must be sealed and delivered to the undersigned at the Public Library in the City of Mansfield, Ohio No. 45 W. Third Street, not more than 15 days prior to January 26, 1942, at which date the Board will meet and designate such depository, according to said law:

That this Board also invite applications from eligible institutions under said law to act as public depository for active funds of this Board, which shall specify the maximum amount of such public funds which the applicant desires to receive for deposit during the ensuing two years:

Bids and applications from such institutions must comply in all respects with the terms of the "Uniform Depository Act" of the State of Ohio passed March 31, 1937:

That a copy of the resolution be published in The Mansfield News-Journal and The Bellville Star once a week for two consecutive weeks.

Mansfield City School District Public Library.

Tygers Rally In Second Half to Break Ashland Jinx

Sport Podge by REX HESS

The Ohio conference, athletic governing body of the majority of Ohio colleges, met one night last fall at the Mansfield-Leland hotel for the purpose of turning down a plea by some of the smaller schools for the use of freshman athletes, to strengthen teams undermanned because of the then national emergency.

It isn't that I'm just discovering that the meeting was held. As a matter of fact I was kicked out of the meeting by the conference brass hats, who took the position that no newspaperman could be trusted to tell anything but the truth when the truth might hurt.

The conference secretary gave me the story of the meeting after it was over, and it was duly recorded in the press of Ohio at that time. Summed up in one short sentence it was: "The conference votes no."

The smaller schools, struggling along with football squads of 15 to 19 men, had been expected to lay their cards on the table and demand relief from an impossible competitive situation, I learned, however, from a few friends attending the session that the smaller schools didn't register the anticipated beef.

* * *

Ashland, Marietta and Mt. Union didn't care to be put in the "dog-in-the-manger" light with which their bigger and "holier-than-thou" brethren were certain to regard them.

Already the situation is changed. The national emergency has turned into war. Athletes are preparing to fight, and die if necessary, for Uncle Sam, instead of "dying for dear old Rutgers," and room, board, and tuition and a job winding the chapel clock.

Furthermore the colleges, one by one, are falling in line with the war requirements for a speed up in education, and are preparing for continuous classes without summer vacation, and for degrees on the assembly-line basis, turned out in anything from two and a half to three and a half years, instead of the conventional four.

This does things to the athletic eligibility problem too.

* * *

Now, some of the old conference bulwarks are putting out hints that freshmen may be permitted to play next fall, not because there's any lack of man power, oh, no but to give every student athletic training

This tickles me no end, and must bring more than a passing chuckle to the little fellows who struggled through the 1941 football season with undermanned squads.

Practically every college already has a physical education program which gives every student, including men and women, plenty of exercise.

* * *

Past masters in the art of cleaning linen, the old bulwarks are now washing their undies in Lux.

Athletic Supplies Clip Westinghouse Electrics

Move Into First Place of City 'A' League With 34-32 Victory

It took three overtimes to do it, but the Westinghouse Electrics were finally beaten last night in City "A" league cage competition. Sparked by a last second pivot shot by Dave Shelley, the Athletic Supplies took a 34-32 decision and moved into first place in the loop standings.

It was the first time that the Westinghouse team, winner of the first round of league play, has been downed this season.

In the first quarter the Electrics held a 6-4 advantage, but by the half the Athletics led, 14-13.

* * *

Third period play saw the Electrics raise the score in their favor to 19-14 before Bruce McGinty took over for the Supplies and single handed racked up nine points to bring his team within one point of tying the Electrics at the third quarter, 24-23.

* * *

Three lead changes and two tied scores featured the last period. With his team trailing by one point with 20 seconds to go Ed Mahon of the Supplies caged a free throw to force the game into the first extra period.

Bob Shade gave the Westinghouse club a two-point advantage as the first extra period opened, but with 15 seconds remaining Shelley looped in a shot from the center of the floor, tying the score at 32 all.

* * *

After a scoreless second overtime Shelley again dropped in a field goal to win the game.

McGinty led the Supplies' scoring with five field goals and six free throws for a total of 16 points.

In the second game of the evening on the Mansfield Senior high school floor the City News upset the Yuncker Sports, 36-26.

Going into the second period trailing 8-6, the Newsies took over the lead at the halfway mark, 14-12, and increased it to 23-16 by the end of the third stanza.

* * *

Joe Miller and Bill Herpich led the Supplies' scoring, Miller with nine tallies and Herpich with 10. Gilliland of Yunckers was game high scorer, however, with 12 points.

The Blue Goose Sohioans took a non-loop game from Hunt's News in the Friendly House loop, 25-14, for the third match of the evening. The Ohio Public Service squad, originally slated to meet the Sohioans, was forced to cancel the game because of an OPS club meeting.

Mabee Sets Pace In Tappan League

Bill Mabee's 573 on games of 191-198-184 took top honors in the Tappan Stove kegling league last night at Colony alleys. Rogers rolled high game of 220.

Bivins Clips Soose's Bid

Fight Held Although Clevelander Overweight.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Don't bet too much on Billy Soose's chances of winning the light heavyweight boxing title—not for a while, anyhow. The Farrell, Pa., battler not only was upset last night by Jimmy Bivins, but plans to enlist in the navy Thursday.

* * *

Spotting the Clevelander six pounds, the Pennsylvanian fought a good battle but was just out-punched for the ten-round decision before 8,066 fans who contributed a $15,811 gate to Promoter Bob Brickman's care.

* * *

Bivins, ranked fifth among the light heavies, came in at 178 pounds—two above the pre-fight agreement—but Soose went on with the fight and took a decisive beating.

* * *

It was in the ninth round that Bivins, frequently a slow finisher, showed to best advantage. He caught Soose in a corner and delivered a telling blow. Billy's handlers proclaimed it a low one, but Referee Joe Sedley said no.

* * *

"We don't know whether Billy will have any more fights—in the ring—or not," said his manager, Paul Moss, who also expects to enlist soon.

"Billy is going to sign up in New York Thursday, and that's all we know."

Bill Fenn Rolls High Tire Total

Hitting every game over the 200 mark, Bill Fenn showed the way to Mansfield Tire keglers at Colony alleys last night with a 622 total on a string of 206-204-212.

Nick Schmidt rolled high game of 224 while Bauer had 222.

Hogan Takes Los Angeles Open From Jim Thompson

By ROBERT MYERS

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Championship golf still pays off on the man who can get 'em down when the chips are down.

Little Benny Hogan proved this when he played the David to Jimmy Thomson's Goliath yesterday, cracking the husky California professional with one spectacular shot on the 18th green that won the playoff of the 17th annual Los Angeles open.

Hogan ran into tougher opposition than many expected before squeezing out a one stroke triumph for the $3,500 first prize. He had a 36-36—72 and Thomson, winner of the L. A. open in 1938, had a 38-35—73.

Hogan, using a golf shot instead of a slingshot, felled the California giant with a birdie four on the last green—a birdie that brought peace and calm to thousands of nervous dollars wagered on the little Hershey, Pa., expert.

Thomson overshot the first green for a bogie and Hogan went to the front. Benny birdied the second and fourth and pulled ahead by three strokes.

Good natured Jimmy failed to wilt, however, and pulled up on even terms on the 13th. Neither player could be labelled better than good at this stage, but they were handicapped by a gallery of 4,000 which trampled on their heels and in their hair.

SPRINGFIELD PUCKSTERS WIN MATCH FROM BARONS

(By Associated Press)

The Springfield Indians increased their lead in the eastern division race of the American hockey league to five games last night with an 11 to 2 victory over the Cleveland Barons.

The defeat prevented Cleveland from moving into a tie for first place in the Western group with the Hershey Bears, but the Barons get another opportunity tonight at Pittsburgh.

Rhine Paces Transportation

Gets 603 Total With 147 In Last Game.

Dick Rhineof Silver King Tractors set the pace in the Transportation bowling league last night at Colony alleys with a 603 total, and was well on his way to a load of lumber until he dropped to 147 in the last game after 244, which was high game for the league.

Forsythe turned in a 601 total.

Long also was on the way to a high mark with opening games of 22[illegible] and 213, and then dropped to 148 for a 595 total.

Women Bowlers Join Book Drive

Members of the executive committee of the Mansfield Women's Bowling association have decided to join in the Victory Book campaign for the collection of new and used books to be sent to army camps.

A committee composed of Kate Cheney, Dee Schroff, Ev Jocha and Donna Schuster has been named in charge of the book collection for the association, and Manager Al Vogel has announced that books may be brought to the Colony bowling alleys where they will be turned over to the committee.

The campaign is not limited to the women bowlers. All bowlers and others wishing to contribute through this medium, are asked to bring their donations to the bowling alleys.

2 Games Won By One Point

Ohio U. and Wittenberg Shade Dayton, Northern.

(By Associated Press)

One-point victory margins provided thrills for fans on Ohio's collegiate basketball front last night.

Ohio University's Bobcats clawed invading Dayton University, 36 to 35, and Wittenberg edged Ohio Northern, 48 to 47, in an Ohio conference tilt at Ada.

Ohio University's behind 19-15 at halftime, overtook the Flyers in the final stanza and at one time led 35-26, but couldn't keep the pace. The victory was Ohio U.'s third in seven starts and gave Dayton two losses against five victories.

* * *

It was Forward Woltjen's free throw that accounted for Wittenberg's victory after the Polar Bears, on the short end of a 30-19 score at the half, flashed to a 40-59 lead only to have the count knotted at 45 and 47 points before the deciding tally. The victory was the Lutherans' second straight in loop play and Ohio Northern's first loss in four conference starts.

* * *

Smarting over its defeat by Marshall, Toledo University knocked off Cincinnati's Bearcats, 50-41, for its 11th win in 12 starts this season. Rocket Center Bob Gerber scored 19 points but the game actually was won from the foul line, Toledo sinking 14 of 21 free throws, compared with five of 18 for the Bearcats. The game was at Cincinnati.

* * *

Mount Union steam-rollered Heidelberg, 78-44, for its fourth consecutive Ohio conference victory and seventh win of the season. The invading Student Princes took an early lead but trailed 36-21 at the halfway mark before losing their fifth game in eight starts.

In other contests Tiffin edged Defiance, 43-41, at Tiffin, and Akron University thumped Western Reserve, 70-54, at Cleveland.

NAVY OFFERS TO TAKE DEMPSEY FOR SERVICE

MUSKOGEE, Okla.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey may be too old for the army, but he's got an invitation to join the navy.

Recruiting Officer A. T. Husted wired the former heavyweight champion:

"Recent news reports say army rejected your attempt to enlist. Navy welcomes fighting men from 17 to 50 years and this office invites you to join the navy and free the world."

Chalk Up 42-31 Victory Over Traditional Rivals

Trail 10-21 In First Half; Take 31-10 Margin During Second

MANSFIELD HIGH'S TYGERS routed an old jinx and broke an old established custom last night as they invaded Ashland for a 42 to 31 basketball victory.

The custom has been for Ashland to win at Ashland and for Mansfield to win at Mansfield in the annual series between the traditional rivals.

Last night's battle started out just that way as the Tygers connected on only three shots out of 26 in the first half, all of them dunked by big Bob Winbigler on his patented one-handed flips at the hoop.

The A's, who had been defeated only once this season, and that last Friday night at Mt. Vernon, started out in top form, outscoring the Tygers 8-3 in the first quarter and 13-7 in the second.

Besides Winbigler's three buckets and a free toss, foul shots had been registered by Joe Romano, Robinson and Altamonte, under an allotment of one each. It wasn't a spectacular scoring spree on the part of the Tygers.

Coach Vern Hoffman told them so between halves as he pulled a Knute Rockne on the boys. "You act like a bunch of farmer boys every time you come over here," the Tyger tutor told his charges. "You seem to think you're supposed to lose in Ashland. I'm not even going up to watch you play this second half." And he didn't.

Whether Hoffman burned the boys up with this speech is not recorded. The fact remains the entire team was hotter than a biscuit in that last half, missing only three out of 15 open shots at the ring.

* * *

Paul Dietzel led the second half drive with three buckets and three free tosses. Winbigler added three buckets to his first half quota for a total of 13 points. Jack Shiplet crashed through with three buckets. Joe Romano chalked up two buckets and a free toss. And Altamonte and Al Hager each racked up a free point.

The third quarter found the Tygers outscoring their opponents 17-7 and in the last period they continued the spree with a 15-3 margin.

So, after trailing 3-8 in the opening period and 10-21 at the half, the Tygers came back to cut the margin to one point at the third stanza, 27-28, and sprint into the lead in the final heat 42-31.

* * *

Coach Vere Smith's Tyger reserves were unable to hit in their usual fashion in the preliminary tilt and were defeated 21-14. Of the 14 points, only five were registered by the starting quintet.

THEATERS

Musical Production.

United for the seventh time in the musical production, "Babies on Broadway," showing at the Ohio, Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland add a few more pictures to their gallery of characters by impersonations of Harry Lauder, Fay Templeton and Carmen Miranda. Mickey does the portrayal of Miss Miranda, the Brazilian bombshell. Age-old story of the hopes and heartaches of the youngsters who hope to crash Broadway every year the picture is embellished with several elaborate production numbers including a minstrel show. James Gleason, Fay Bainter and Virginia Weidler are in the cast.

Modern Comedy.

A bright young man follows his college instructor's advice by wedding the boss's daughter in order to get a job in the comedy, "Marry the Boss's Daughter," opening Thursday at the Madison. Brenda Joyce and Bruce Edwards play the leading roles and George Barbier has the part of the father. The hectic story of an ex-prize fighter who enrolls at Harvard university is told in "Harvard Here I Come," the second feature, with Maxie Rosenbloom and Arlene Judge.

Exciting Plot.

Wallace Ford and Marian Marsh are co-starred in "Murder By Invitation," the Ritz attraction. "Nine Lives Are Not Enough," the second production, has Ronald Reagan and Joan Perry.

Gay Theme.

Gloria Swanson, the screen's glamor girl of not so many years ago, returns to play a temperamental actress in the Park attraction, "Father Takes a Wife," starring Adolphe Menjou. One of the most sparkling comedies of the season the picture gives Menjou the role of a shipping magnate, somewhat of a gay dog, who marries a stage star in the hopes she will give up her career. Dezi Arnaz, a young Cuban newcomer to the screen, makes his bow as the actress' protege while Florence Rice and John Howard are also cast. "Let's Go Collegiate," with Jackie Darro is the second picture.

Absorbing Story.

"Meet John Doe," the Majestic attraction, co-stars Gary Cooper and Barbara Stanwyck. Sonja Henie and Tyrone Power are featured in the second picture, "Second Fiddle."

Advertisement for Bids for Depository for Funds of Mansfield City School District Public Library.
RESOLUTION ADOPTED BY THE LIBRARY BOARD
December 22, 1941

RESOLVED: That this Board estimates that the aggregate maximum amount of inactive funds belonging to this Board for the ensuing two years is $10,000.00 which should be deposited as "Inactive Deposits" under the provisions of the "Uniform Depository Act";

That this Board invite eligible institutions in Richland County which desire to act as such depository to submit sealed bids naming the interest which will be paid on such inactive funds for the ensuing two years and the amount which such institutions will accept on those terms:

That such bids must be sealed and delivered to the undersigned at the Public Library in the City of Mansfield, Ohio No. 45 W. Third Street, not more than 15 days prior to January 26, 1942, at which date the Board will meet and designate such depository, according to said law:

That this Board also invite applications from eligible institutions under said law to act as public depository for active funds of this Board, which shall specify the maximum amount of such public funds which the applicant desires to receive for deposit during the ensuing two years:

Bids and applications from such institutions must comply in all respects with the terms of the "Uniform Depository Act" of the State of Ohio passed March 31, 1937:

That a copy of the resolution be published in The Mansfield News-Journal and The Bellville Star once a week for two consecutive weeks.

CHOIR TO GIVE PERFORMANCES

Senior High Songsters Will Appear on Saturday Night Theater Program.

Mansfield Senior high school's a capella choir of 106 voices will sing two of the Welsh airs that enhance the picture, "How Green Was My Valley," at the Ohio theater Saturday night.

Directed by A. LeMoine Derr the choir will sing at both the first performance at approximately 7 p. m. and again at 9 p. m. The singers will offer "Penparke" and "Rachae," and the former number will be embellished by both a male trio and trio of female voices.

The Welsh Eisteddfod choir provides the music in this film directed by John Ford, two times Academy Award winner, before he retired to enter service as a lieutenant commander in the United States Navy.

Hailed as a distinguished achievement in the annals of motion pictures "How Green Was My Valley," is an adaptation of Richard Llewellyn's novel by the same name. It tells the simple moving story of a Welsh family never conquered by hardship, hunger or hate, nor the turbulent years that stole the verdure from their valley.

The cast is headed by Walter Pidgeon, Maureen O'Hara, Donald Crisp and little Roddy McDowall, the latter as a crippled child whose faith taught him to walk.

POPEYE—Sit Down, Ya Rockin' the Boat!

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—Let's Sit This One Out.

By Harold Gray

ER--WHY, KATIE! HAVE YOU FORGOTTEN ME? OF COURSE, I WAS ONLY A KID--BUT I REMEMBER YOU--AREN'T YOU GOING TO INVITE ME IN?
ALL RIGHT-COME IN-YOU ASKED FOR IT-
14-42
WHY, I REMEMBER YOU PERFECTLY, KATIE-LITTLE PIGTAILS---WHY, IT WAS ONLY THIRTY YEARS AGO OR SO---
IT COULD HAVE BEEN A HUNDRED-SO YOU'RE A DOCTOR NOW, EH?
WHY, YES, KATIE--I'M A DOCTOR-AT LEAST I'M SUPPOSED TO BE-- BAH! DOCTOR! WHAT DO DOCTORS KNOW? FOOLS! FOOLS! FOOLS! GET OUT OF MY HOUSE!
WHAT DID YOU COME HERE FOR? TO SPY ON ME! TO LAUGH! TO SNEER AT ME! TO MOCK ME!
NEVER THAT, KATIE--AND I'M NOT GOING YET--SIT DOWN!

BLONDIE—Hiding Behind a Woman's Shirt!

PAM—"G-Girl."

By A. W. Brewerton

OH, YES, PAMELA, I WOUND UP MY BUSINESS IN DETROIT VERY SATISFACTORILY--THANKS TO YOUR PERILOUS TRIP THERE WITH MY PAPERS!
IT WASN'T YOUR FAULT THAT IT WAS "PERILOUS," COLONEL--MIGHT HAVE HAPPENED TO ANY-BODY!
BUT IF YOU HADN'T GONE, THEY'D NOT HAVE CAPTURED CAREY GRAHAM'S KIDNAPERS--OR SAVED THE ENGLISHMAN'S SECRET DOCUMENTS!
I'M NOT SURE, THOUGH, IF THEY WERE THE TRIO DAVID WANTED! --I CALLED DAVID SOON AS I RE-TURNED BUT HE WAS OUT OF TOWN
1-14
OH, PARDON ME! I'M LOOKING FOR A BEAUTIFUL G-GIRL, NAMED PAMELA POTTER!
DAVID!
TELL ME, WONDERFUL, HOW DID YOU DO IT? THE BIGGEST NAB OF THE WHOLE YEAR!

THE NEBBS—The Former Mrs. Potts.

By Sol Hess

THERE'S THAT WIDOW AMBROSE HAS BEEN RUSHING--SHE'S NOT BAD TO LOOK AT--SHE CAN DO A SWELL JOB WITH COSMETICS
REMEMBER PEARL HARBOR!!
I TAKE IT YOU'RE MRS. SMITH, A WIDOW--I AM, TOO, BUT I'M GRASS-THE EX-MRS POTTS--WE WERE MARRIED BUT WE FOUND THAT CONTENTMENT WASN'T POSSIBLE. I AIN'T SAYING WHOSE FAULT IT WAS MRS. POTTS, DID YOU SAY--?
BUY DEFENSE BONDS
1-14
IT LOOKED LIKE A BIG CATCH TO HOOK A BANKER BUT WHAT'S THE USE OF MONEY IF YOU NEVER GET A LOOK AT IT?
MONEY ISN'T EVERYTHING--I HAVE MORE THAN I NEED--I GUESS MR POTTS HAS, TOO, SO THAT DOESN'T MEAN ANYTHING
MR POTTS MAY NOT BE A SPENDTHRIFT--THAT'S HOW HE GOT ALL HIS MONEY TOGETHER--MY LATE HUSBAND DIDN'T TRY TO OUTNIGHT THESE NIGHT CLUBS OR GET HIS EXERCISE PUMPING SLOT MACHINE HANDLES, OR I WOULDN'T
MAYBE I BE SITTING SO PRETTY NOW

BRICK BRADFORD—On the Throne of Titania.

By William Ritt and Clarence Gray

COME, GUARDSMAN! TELL THIS AUGUST COURT THAT THIS IS THE MAN YOU SAW VIOLATE THE LAW!
I-I THINK-S-SO-B-BUT I-I CAN'T SAY FOR C-CERTAIN! B-BECAUSE OF THE M-MASK AND THE-THE-H-HOOD!
NOW, GUARDSMAN! IS HE THE MAN?
HE IS! HE IS! THE MAN I SAW!

WELL, I'LL BE DOGGONED! SAMPSON'S PULLED THE TEMPLE DOWN ON HIS OWN HEAD!

BRINGING UP FATHER—

By George McManus

YOU LOOK VERY HAPPY-MAGGIE-HAVE I DONE SOMETHING RIGHT?
NO-DEAR-MY FATHER WENT TO MEET HIS OLD SOCIAL FRIENDS-I SUPPOSE HE IS IN THE ELITE CLUB NOW-HE ALWAYS LOVED CLUB LIFE—
OH-HOME-SO SOON? DID YOU SEE ALL YOUR OLD FRIENDS-PAW-PAW?
NOPE-AND THE ONE GUY THAT I WANTED TO SEE WAS DIPPY MOGIN-NONE OF TH' OLD GANG HAVE SEEN HIM IN SIX YEARS-
WHAT'S HE DOING?

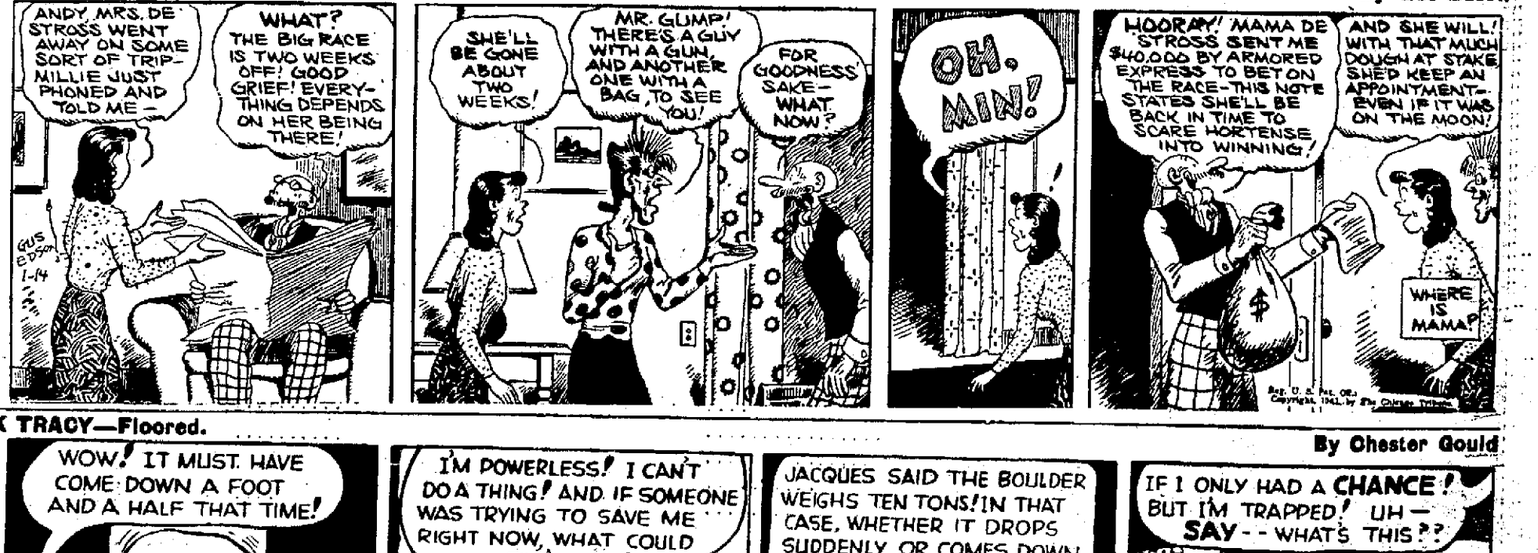
THE GUMPS—Mama's Word Is As Good As Her Dough.

By Gus Edson



ANDY, MRS. DE STROSS WENT AWAY ON SOME SORT OF TRIP-MILLIE JUST PHONED AND TOLD ME—
WHAT? THE BIG RACE IS TWO WEEKS OFF! GOOD GRIEF! EVERY-THING DEPENDS ON HER BEING THERE!
GUS EDSON 1-14
SHE'LL BE GONE ABOUT TWO WEEKS!
MR. GUMP! THERE'S A GUY WITH A GUN, AND ANOTHER ONE WITH A BAG, TO SEE YOU!
FOR GOODNESS SAKE—WHAT NOW?
OH, MIN!
HOORAY! MAMA DE STROSS SENT ME $40,000 BY ARMORED EXPRESS TO BET ON THE RACE-THIS NOTE STATES SHE'LL BE BACK IN TIME TO SCARE HORTENSE INTO WINNING!
AND SHE WILL! WITH THAT MUCH DOUGH AT STAKE SHE'D KEEP AN APPOINTMENT-EVEN IF IT WAS ON THE MOON!
WHERE IS MAMA?

DICK TRACY—Floored.

By Chester Gould

WOW! IT MUST HAVE COME DOWN A FOOT AND A HALF THAT TIME!
I'M POWERLESS! I CAN'T DO A THING! AND IF SOMEONE WAS TRYING TO SAVE ME RIGHT NOW, WHAT COULD THEY DO?
JACQUES SAID THE BOULDER WEIGHS TEN TONS! IN THAT CASE, WHETHER IT DROPS SUDDENLY OR COMES DOWN SLOWLY, IT WILL CRUSH ME LIKE A PIECE OF TISSUE PAPER!
IF I ONLY HAD A CHANCE! BUT I'M TRAPPED! UH—SAY--WHAT'S THIS??
FOR THE FIRST TIME TRACY REALIZES THAT THE BOTTOM OF THE "CAISSON" IS NOT DIRT BUT-YES-IT IS! WOOD! HE IS KNEELING ON WHAT APPEARS TO BE A BOARD FLOOR——

LIBRARY DONATED

CLEVELAND — (AP)— A large collection of books and photographs belonging to the late U. S. Senator Atlee Pomerene has been donated to the Cleveland Public Library by his widow. The books, including many autographed historical works, will be added to the library's reference shelves.

PILOT APOLOGIZES

LONDON — (U.P.) — Shot down over Northern France, a dying pilot managed to gasp over his radio before he crashed: "Please accept my apologies. I cannot go on." His message was picked up by other pilots in the flight. The pilot—a Dutchman from the Dutch East Indies — had shot down five planes.

STOCKS HOLD TO PREVIOUS UPWARD TIDE

Utility Share Holders Scan Report Showing Greater Use of Power.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Stocks moved to extend the previous day's upturn in today's early market dealings.

Holders of utility shares scanned the report of the Edison Electric Institute which revealed that electric energy consumption expanded more than seasonally in the week ended Jan. 10.

Output of 3,480,344,000 kilowatt hours was 5.8 per cent. ahead of the preceding week and 15.9 per cent above the comparable period a year ago.

Encouraging to investment quarters were reports that recent new security offerings had been well received in the new issue market.

EXCEED QUOTA AT NEW LONDON

Village Raises $2,258 on $1,200 Quota; First To Reach Goal.

NEW LONDON—New London's Red Cross War Emergency drive not only netted its $1,200 quota, but exceeded it by 88 per cent in addition to being the first community of Huron county to reach its quota, having finished up two days before the county drive ended.

Eighty-nine volunteer workers took over the task of soliciting business houses, factories and homes, with a check for 10 per cent over and above the quota set being mailed to the county headquarters on Thursday of last week.

However, money continued to roll in until Monday, and when the final count was made, $2,259 had been received.

NEW LONDON — Founder's day of the Parent-Teachers association will be an event of Tuesday evening, Feb. 3, with special honor bing paid to all past presidents of the local association, and an outstanding program in charge of Mrs. F. G. Gilbert. The program will be built around the life of the famous poet and song writer Stephen Foster.

The social portion of the evening will be in charge of the second grade mothers, with Mrs. Lloyd Wight as chairman, assisted by Mrs. Julia Lowell.

SUBMITS TOTAL OF FIRE LOSS

GALION — Total fire loss on buildings and contents during 1941 in Galion amounted to $11,570, it was announced today by Fire Chief Harry Kile in an annual report.

Kile's report showed 76 fire calls were made. An estimated value of building loss was $210,365: estimated insurance on these buildings was $239,356; estimated loss on the buildings was $6,830.

HEADS BOARD

MT. GILEAD — A. T. Breese of Mt. Gilead has been named tire rationing co-ordinator for Morrow county.

Morrow county's quota of new tires and tubes for January is 10 tires and eight tubes for passenger cars and light trucks and 23 tires and 19 tubes for heavy trucks.

Axis garrison isolated at Halfaya ("Hellfire") Pass.

Axis communiques again stressed aerial assaults upon bomb-scarred Malta, British island stronghold in the central Mediterranean, which has weathered more than 1,000 raids.

While the British said they expected an Axis attempt to invade Malta was imminent, other quarters saw the increasingly violent attacks on Malta as an attempt to knock it out from the air—thus eliminating a flank threat from Malta against a prospective Axis thrust across the Mediterranean into the Middle East itself.
